

WALLED LAKE HIGH GRID TEAM GIVEN DINNER BY CLUB

Business Men Give Boys Banquet; U. Of D. Varsity Men Are Speakers

Twenty-two members of the Walled Lake High School football team received their letters at a banquet given them by the Exchange Club at the Methodist Church on Thursday evening.

W. G. Storen, captain of the University of Detroit football team for next season and star of this year's team and Edward Barber, quarterback of the U. of D. team, were the principal speakers. The four men members of the High School, faculty, four members of the board of education, Rev. Bert Ede and Darrell Johnson were also guests. The meal was served by the wives of the Exchange club members. Decorations were in Exchange colors of the blue and gold. Darrell Johnson, pianist, played a march as the boys and men were being seated and one selection followed the banquet. Rev. Bert Ede gave the invocation.

A. R. Green was toastmaster of the evening, and gave the boys a greeting from the Club. Hadley Bachert, captain of the team, responded and had the squad give the Club a standing vote of thanks.

M. L. Bradley, president of the School Board, gave a short talk followed by a five minute talk by Supt. H. E. Nesman.

Capt. Storen gave a few experiences of the football team and told the boys the value of clean lives and the necessity of a clean life for good football games. He also told them to be sure to go through with their education to attend college and go out for athletics to keep mentally and physically fit.

Mr. Barber told of the game played by University of Detroit, and the technique of the game as played by colleges.

Coach Harold Hursh presented the team members with sweaters which had the letters sewed on. Those receiving letters were, Lloyd Eno, Arthur Harris, Arthur Bowen, Alden Green, Dayton Graham, Ronald Button, Sylvester Cisco, Dick Roach, George Campbell, Junior Bentley, Hadley Bachert, Glen Allen, Irvin Welfare, Douglas Welfare, Douglas Tuttle, Mark Ellenwood, Clyde Graham, Roy Smitherman, Mason Welch, Rollin Tuttle, Harold Small and Kenneth Bassett.

New Oakland Eight, Pontiac Six Shown

r. p. m., while the Oakland Eight develops 8 brake horsepower at the same engine speed. The Oakland Eight displacement is 251 cubic inches. Credit for the remarkable speed and acceleration said to mark the performance of the new Oakland is attributed largely to its high ratio of power to weight. The new Eight develops one horsepower for each 37 pounds of car weight.

Both the Oakland Eight and the New Series Pontiac Big Six are said to offer unusually smooth engine performance at all speeds. The Pontiac retains the Harmonic Balancer, Oakland's original invention, which absorbs torsional vibration in the crankshaft. While the Oakland Eight, because of its compact V-type design, permits the use of a crankshaft so short and massive that no torsional vibration is present throughout the entire range of engine speeds. Complete down draft carburetion, horizontal valve assembly, an entirely new type of two-plane, high compression cylinder head and many other patentable features distinguish the Oakland "V" engine and endow it with gasoline economy approximately equal to that of the previous Oakland Six.

A new breaking feature used on both the Oakland and the Pontiac—the introduction of rollers on the toggle joints of the internal expanding brakes—results in greater efficiency despite a marked decrease in necessary pedal effort. Another feature offered on both cars is found in the new semi-automatic type of starter in which the starter pinion engages with the teeth of the flywheel before electrical contact is made, thus eliminating the possibility of the teeth being chipped.

The body of the new Oakland is lower by two inches. New body lines and striping on both cars and the lavish use of chrome plate on exposed metal parts add further snap and beauty to the appearance of both the Six and the Eight.

HOW TAXPAYERS MAY REDUCE TAX PENALTIES

Advice as to how to reduce the penalties which result from non-payment of taxes within the statutory period is given by the Michigan State Farm Bureau. The statement follows:

"Thousands of dollars are annually paid by Michigan farmers and other taxpayers in the form of penalties for tax delinquency which could be saved if the taxpayers took full advantage of their rights under the existing laws.

"Taxpayers who own more than one description of property sometimes fail to realize that they can pay on one or more descriptions without paying on all. A still greater number do not understand that it is possible to pay part of the tax even on one description without paying all of it.

"Taxes are itemized on the tax roll, and the amounts due to the State, the County, the school district and the Township are shown separately. Usually there are still other divisions. Section 53 of the General Tax Law provides that 'Any person may pay the taxes, or any one of the several taxes on any parcel or description of land'. This means that if a man or woman has enough money to pay the tax on one description, or enough to pay his State tax, his County Tax, his School Tax or his Township Tax, but not enough to pay the others, he can go to the office of the treasurer and pay as many of these as he is able to and thus escape a part of the penalty which will be charged against him if he allows the entire tax to become delinquent."
