

WEST POINT PARK WINS ITS FIRST LEAGUE CONTEST

Shields Strikes Out 17 Men And His Team-mates Win By 7 To 1 Score

West Point Park's baseball team opened its season auspiciously Sunday afternoon, winning its first league contest in the Penn-Ohio League, 7 to 1. Penn-Ohio Railroad was the opponent.

Shields, pitching for West Point Park, hurled a fine game, striking out 17 men, and allowing only six hits. His teammates gave him good support.

The game was fast and until the eighth inning, a close battle. In that frame West Point Park crossed the plate five times. Wilcox, who had relieved Ponte for the visitors, had weakened and was unable to check the West Point sluggers.

Next Sunday West Point Park will play at Dearborn, the park being at Ford and Miller roads, and the following Sunday will be a big day at West Point Park, with River Rouge last year's champions, who were defeated by West Point Park in a post-season series, coming to the West Point Park grounds bent on revenge.

Other Down-River scores Sunday were: D. T. and I, 11, River Rouge 9; (11 innings); Lincoln Park 12, Highland Park 2; Dearborn 7, Ecorse 4.

Attention Drawn To Grand River Crossing

an hour through Farmington, not much damage would result, even though they run over the tracks; and upon investigation, we would find that most accidents occur where one or both are violating the rules of safe driving. I am strictly in favor of the splendid warning signs placed on county highways where high speed is expected and allowed; but on the other hand, I feel that in cities or villages every warning sign placed by the municipality takes the responsibility off from the driver and places it on the municipality—for if the driver, through his own carelessness, has an accident, he immediately blames the municipality because they did not put up a warning sign when the fact is that every intersection is a dangerous intersection and it should be impressed upon the minds of all drivers.

This place in question, of course, is not quite an intersection; and I think matters would be improved if your suggestion was carried out. I will take the matter up accordingly.

Thanking you for calling this to our attention, I am,
Sincerely yours,
H. O. Rounds,
Detroit Automobile Club.

THIN DIME DISCARDED AS SPARK PLUG GAUGE

A thin dime no longer serves as a satisfactory spark plug gauge in the adjustment of present day motors. The high compression developed by modern automobile engines and the split-second rapidity with which their cylinders are charged and fired render the setting of the spark plug gap a precision operation requiring an accurate gauge. The new AC metric spark plugs used in the Oakland Eight and the Pontiac Six, are carefully adjusted for a gap of .025 inches.

A 1929 model Pontiac Six recently beat the best railroad time by 39 minutes on the 628-mile trip from Oak Park, Ill. to Bedford, Penn. The driver was Harold W. Fitteraif, executive of an Oak Park life insurance company.

HUMAN ENERGY

is the driving force of the world's progress

THE value of the locomotive, the ocean liner, the radio, the airplane, is too great to be estimated. But mental energy—the brain force that brought them into existence and that guides them—is far greater.

All of us have limitless stores of energy, mental and physical, that were given to us to make the most, the best, out of life.

Focusing these energies on a growing bank account provides the most substantial foundation. Here financial power grows through increasing funds, through the counsel and cooperation that can be supplied only by those who are at all times in close touch with the financial world and money problems. And here the growth of the account is speeded by the interest we pay.
