Don't Shoot The Birds

To the Editor:

"Anything that takes from the beauty of the world shrinks the whole world a bit."

Pheasant hunting season is not far distant. The pheasant is a beautiful-bird, with its gold and brown coat. How we admire it as it walks around so majestically. Yet hunters are permitted to shoot these lovely birds. There is the little quail—who does not love this precious little whistler? "Bob White, Bob White." How they help to enrich the world. How unhappy we would be were it not for our beautiful birds.

Our little friend, Bob, is supposed to be protected, but we are told that often hunters shoot those too, if they are quite sure no one sees. I believe they do, or why are there so few

Life is dear to birds. They love their nests and their young. They procure food for their nestlings at almost any risk or cost. When danger threatens, they will give their lives in defense of their young.

Let everybody help to protect our birds. The newspapers, the ministers from the pulpit, the teachers in the Sunday Schools and day schools, city, county and township officials. Let farmers post placards of warning against hunting. Last, but not least, let parents teach their children to befriend birds and animals. To feed them in winter when food is scarce. To build bird houses in spring, and thus show our appreciation for the joy they give to us.

Mr. Guest has well said:

They have the voice to ask us
For the pity which they need,
With shame they cannot task us
Howe'er their hearts may bleed.

However they despise us
For all the hurts they bear,
They cannot criticize us
Or say that we're unfair.

We call them God's dumb creatures
And yet we know they feel,
For oft their anguished features
Their sufferings reveal.

They cannot ask for kindness
Nor for our mercy plead;
Yet cruel is our blindness
Which does not see their need.

World-over, town or city,
God trusts us with this task:
To give our love and pity
To those who cannot ask.

To the Oakland County Taxpayers Association:

I do not know how I came to be elected president of the Taxpayers Association but I guess someone held a meeting and I got a vote, and felt just as easily as I did for the Northwestern Highway.

Thanks for the vote, Mr. Chairman.

BOY RUNS FROM BEHIND A TRUCK, HIT BY MACHINE

William Eckler Escapes Serious Injury When Knocked Down On Grand River

The slow speed of an automobile which struck him saved William Eckler, 9 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Eckler of Oakland road, Farmington, from serious injury when he was struck on Grand River avenue Wednesday afternoon.

The boy ran from behind a west-bound truck directly into the path of a car travelling east, driven by Rev. J. A. Loisel, of Raincourt, Ont. Rev. Loisel's machine was travelling very slowly. The bumper threw the boy into the air, and in landing on the pavement he suffered abrasions of his face and arms and legs.

The boy was given first aid treatment at the office of Dr. Z. R. Aschenbrenner and, taken home. Rev. Loisel was not held by the police. The Ecklers moved to Farmington recently, from the Fourth Gate road section.

Almost A Holdup It Was In Dark Driveway

Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davis, Mrs. Theto and her brother, Joe Piscopink, proprietor of the North Farmington store and Mrs. John Schulte attended a meeting of their bridge club at Wayne.

They returned to the Schulte home about 1:30 a. m. Mr. Piscopink, who had left his car in the rear of the house, started aft. He had gone but a few seconds when he came running back, hands above his head shouting, "There's a man at your back door, there's a man at your back door." The man was following, also shouting, but what he was saying was, "It's the milkman, it's the milkman."

The "thug" was Will Pagel, a well known resident, who was making his nightly delivery for the local creamery. "All's well that ends well," but Mr. Piscopink has had to stand for a great deal of good-natured rallery.
