County Potato Crop

Far Below Average

Many fields of potatoes in the county will not be worth digging, according to Harold M. Vaughn, County Agricultural Agent. Where the crop was planted in early mid-season, the combined factors of drought and leaf hopper injury killed the vines in September, unless a regular spray program was practiced.

In a few cases these middle season fields were regularly sprayed and are green until frost. These will probably give the highest yields of any this year, but considerably below the average.

Most of the last plantings are continuing green until frost. The early set of tubers in some cases is extremely light and the vines are re-setting now. In other cases where the set was heavier, the growth of tubers is very ill-shaped and irregular. Probably no yield in the county will produce a normal crop in shape of tubers or in yield. The lack of serious early frost injury has helped the yield in many cases.

The prospective yield indicated is at least 5 per cent below the five year average. This low average yield is general throughout the potato producing area with the exception of Idaho. The Maine crop has suffered from excess of rainfall, rotting and blight.

Salvation Army Home Service Appeal Ends

The Salvation Army Home Service Appeal came to a close with $148.34 raised, $200 having been the goal set for Farmington.

Any one who did not see Mr. Brown is asked to send a donation to either bank. John Fitzpatrick or Edgar S. Pierce, who are acting as treasurers.

Thanks are expressed to every citizen and all who helped to make this possible.

—Envoy W. A. Brown, Field Representative.
