Candidate For Clerk

In announcing my candidacy for clerk of Farmington Township at the primary March 2, I believe I should inform the voters as to my qualifications for the office.

I have had business college training and several years' experience in various kinds of office work, including stenography, which I believe would be valuable in conducting the office of clerk properly.

I am in favor of lower salaries for Township officers.

CLARENCEVILLE RESIDENT DIES AT CHATHAM, ONT.

Given Military Funeral At Chatham, Ontario Sunday: 35 Years Old

Clarenceville friends were shocked to learn of the sudden death, February 5 of Horace Chandler of Clarenceville at Chatham, Ont. Mr. Chandler, who was 35 years of age, contracted a severe cold a few days ago which quickly developed into pneumonia. He is the son of William Chandler of Chatham, Ont., who makes his home with Alderman, Sanderson of that city. His mother died a few months ago.

Mr. Chandler was born in England. The Chandler family moved to Canada when Horace was still a child. At the age of 18 he heard the call to duty and enlisted in the 33rd battalion. He received an honorable discharge at the close of the war. At one time he was reported killed in action and mourned as dead. Funeral services were held in the First Baptist church of Chatham. Some time elapsed before the erroneous report was corrected with a statement that he was one of the few to come out alive after a disastrous shell explosion.

At the close of the war he returned to Chatham, and later moved to Clarenceville. He became an active member in the I. O. O. F. No. 427 of Clarenceville and became a past grand master in January, 1930. He was also a member of the S. O. E. in Chatham and of the British Legion in Detroit.

Funeral services were held in Chatham, Ont., Sunday, February 8. An Oddfellow, British Legion and military escort paid their respects. He leaves a wife, Nellie and four children.

Officials Cartooned In Detroit Newspaper

He is proud of his city's efforts in street widening, sewerage and other improvements.

Mayor Lamb is pictured trying to drive a golf ball out of a vicious sand-trap, while behind him another golfer exclaims, "It's a good thing you're a contractor. You can replace that turf at a low cost." Mayor Lamb himself is saying: "This reminds me. We gotta widen Grand River" avenue.

The second cartoon is headed as follows: "Lee E. Doyle is the Police Chief. He says his main job is traffic violators on Grand River avenue. Bootleggers or gyps don't worry him. He likes to play bridge and enjoys baseball."

Chief Doyle is shown lifting by the coat-collars out of their respective automobiles two enraged motorists whose cars had collided, one exclaiming "He did it," and the other, "His fault." Chief Doyle is remarking, "Well, boys, you were both careless, so let's take a detour to the station." A nearby sign post indicates that the collision took place on Grand River.

"Clerk Comfortable"

Over the next cartoon this appears: "Nathan H. Powers is City Clerk and can tell you all about old time happenings. He was retired from railroad service and now is the town historian. His hobby is reading." Mr. Power is shown seated, apparently, in a library, with a pipe in his hand. He is leaning back in a swivel chair, his feet on the desk before him. Behind him is a book-case and on it a globe atlas. On the wall is a picture of an ancient locomotive. Mr. Power is telling two attentive listeners, "I remember when the first auto zipped through this town at 12 miles per hour—the horses started climbing trees."

Likes Fishing
The fourth cartoon has the following head: "George Gildemeister, Farmington City's Treasurer is assistant bank cashier. His leisure time is spent fishing near his summer cottage or playing golf."

Mr. Gildemeister is pictured in a checkered business suit, starch collar with flaming necktie, and a felt hat, standing up in a row boat in the middle of a lake of choppy waves. In one hand is a fishing-rod, and with the other he triumphantly holds a string on which is a large fish, exclaiming, "The boys ought to see this before I eat it." On the shore a terror-stricken lady is shouting,

"George, stop rocking the boat." Beside her is a little girl with upraised arms, apparently equally frantic.

At least one of the officials, who did not see the cartoon before it appeared, expressed some chagrin. Mr. Power has never smoked a pipe in his life, and although he formerly smoked cigars, he stopped that 20 years ago. It is not his custom as those who know him are aware, to sit in a library with his hat on, or any place with his feet on the desk.

Finally, his name is spelled "Power" without an "s" on the end, although large numbers of people in Farmington and elsewhere pronounce it, "Powers," despite the fact that his is one of the pioneer families in Farmington, with an important road bearing the name.

BILL WOULD CURB JOB-GRABBING

Rep. Philemon J. Miller of Wall Lake introduced a bill in the Legislature this week which if passed would stop the practice of members of boards of supervisors grabbing off county offices by appointment and election. The bill seeks to amend the present law to provide that no member of a board of supervisors shall be eligible to appointment or election to any county office during the term of office or which he was elected or for one year thereafter. This, Mr. Miller said, would tend to stop boards of supervisors from creating jobs to which they often look ahead individually as prospective candidates.

What Every Farmer Should Keep in Mind

Where a return for labor and efforts is dependent to a great degree on weather and crops as well as market conditions, no farmer is "all set" unless he has behind him a 4% savings account that through regular deposits increases steadily. It is then that a farmer can enjoy an easy mind if the money is in a secure bank such as this. We welcome farmers' accounts.
