

Personal

Mrs. F. L. Cook entertained at luncheon Wednesday, Mrs. Martha Warner, Mrs. M. B. Pierce, Mrs. Rufus Grossman, Mrs. John Harlan and Miss Meriah Andrews.

Jean Doyle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Doyle is on the sick list.

Miss Winnifred Walling is back to work after an illness of two weeks.

Mrs. J. Miller attended the funeral of her cousin near Birmingham, Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Elmer Switzer is entertaining the Friday Noon Bridge club.

Mrs. Harry Pagel is entertaining eight ladies at bridge luncheon, Friday.

Mrs. Alice Tuttle and daughter, Ruth spent Friday in Detroit.

Mrs. Margaret Waite, who has been quite ill, is spending some time with her daughter, Mrs. L. Thayer.

Mr. and Mrs. Rayford James and Hugh Ryal were dinner guests at the home of Mrs. Alice Tuttle, Sunday.

Miss Jennie Palmer spent Thursday visiting Mr. and Mrs. L. Thayer and Mrs. M. Waite.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ward of Straits Lake and Mr. and Mrs. Steve Lockman and daughter of Pontiac were callers at the Lou Thayer home, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Gilchrist and Mr. and Mrs. H. Bickling and son, Lloyd and Mr. and Mrs. John Ash of Detroit were dinner guests Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bickling, the occasion being Mr. Bickling's birthday.

Mrs. J. Melow of Salem spent last Thursday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ely.

Mrs. Alice Tuttle and daughter, Ruth with Mr. and Mrs. J. Bennett of Novi, spent Saturday in Pontiac.

The friends of Mrs. Boice are very glad to see her out again and learn of her complete recovery.

Dr. and Mrs. J. Miller are entertaining Dr. Miller's brother and wife and three children for a few days.

Miss Nettie Staman, who teaches in Lansing, is spending her Easter vacation at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Staman.

Mrs. T. E. Allen visited her daughter, Mrs. S. Atchison (at Pleasant Ridge, Monday).

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Fife of Redford visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Ross, Tuesday evening.

Mrs. E. Switzer entertained the Friday Bridge club at her home on Wednesday.

Mrs. Dean Parker is recovering from a recent illness at her home.

William Way and Robert Cook spent Monday in Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Ross visited their daughter in Detroit Sunday, and also called on Rev. and Mrs. E. P. Dunlavy.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Allen of Farmington road, entertained Mrs. Allen's sister, Miss Sadie Heaney, and Mr. and Mrs. K. Ewen and daughter of Detroit on Sunday.

Mrs. H. Habermehl and son, Austin spent Sunday with Charles Habermehl.

Miss Florence Alice Cook will arrive home Friday from her school in Pennsylvania, to spend the Easter vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Cook.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Auten and children spent Sunday in Ortonville with Mrs. Auten's father and sister.

Otis Taylor and Miss Doris and Calvin Husted called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Hess, Sunday evening.

Mrs. Charlotte Nye and granddaughter, Miss Phyllis Stock of Pontiac called on Mrs. Eli Stodgel Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Pike of Birmingham and Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Pike of Detroit were guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Pike, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Pike were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Boice of Pontiac, Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Boice have just returned from Florida.

Mrs. Lee Hill spent Saturday in Detroit.

Mrs. James Miller and Mrs. E. F. Holcomb attended the funeral Tuesday, Mrs. William Love of Pontiac, Tuesday. Services were held in Birmingham as she was a former resident of that place.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Cherry and Mrs. T. V. Sherman of Detroit called on Dr. and Mrs. E. F. Holcomb, Tuesday.

Abram Sherman of Six Gates, Mich., spent Thursday with his two sisters, Miss Grace Anglim and Mrs. David Ross.

To Observe Army Day In Farmington, April 6

Monday, April 6, will be observed here as Army Day, as it will throughout the country, to memorialize the services and traditions of the armies of the United States and of those local men who have served in the armed defense of the nation.

Announcement to that effect was made by Earl Pettibone, commander of the American Legion, who today received notification of his appointment as local chairman of arrangements by J. T. Shearer, of Detroit, general chairman, Michigan committee for Army Day.

The local chairman will appoint a committee of arrangements immediately and call a meeting to discuss plans for the observance of the day here. The co-operation of the municipality, the county board of supervisors, the schools, clubs, women's organizations, churches, military organizations, mercantile concerns and individual citizens will be requested. Display of the American flag on Army Day is asked by the local chairman, who suggests that brief appropriate programs be held in the schools the morning of April 6. He also suggests that club and fraternal organizations briefly note the day at meetings next previous to April 6, unless that date is their regular meeting day.

HUNTING LAND TOTAL IS 13,000,000 ACRES

There are about 13,000,000 acres open to the general public for hunting in Michigan north of Townline 20. This includes Wexford, Muskegon, Roscommon, Ogemaw, Isocoo, and all the counties north of them.

In the territory considered by the Game division analysis there is a total of 17,742,240 acres and it is in this section of the state that most deer, bear and partridge hunting is done. Of this total, 14,000,000 or about 80 percent is unoccupied "wild" land.

Of this total area of "wild" lands, less than one tenth of one percent is closed to all hunting. About 580,000 acres, or five percent of the area, is closed to public but is open to private hunting; practically all of this is land owned to hunting clubs. Some 13,000,000 acres or about 94 percent of all the wild land is open to the general public for hunting. Of this about 1,200,000 acres is state-owned and under control of the Department. The balance is privately owned but I cause it is posted or otherwise restricted by the owners it is still available to the public for hunting purposes.

All of the figures were as of July 1, 1929. Club ownership is in increasing rather rapidly but state owned land is also increasing.

Italy now forbids the exportation of genuine antiques, but Americans will continue to buy and lug home the other kind.

Having settled the Prohibition question, both ways, the Wickscham commission might be allowed to tackle Muscle Shoals.

Enterprise Lifters bring results.

Doris Jay in a Dust Cap

By JANE OSBORN

(Continued)

AT GRAYSON'S typists came and a typist went but impeccable Miss Hanson was on hand. Just at present Doris Jay was the typist who had most recently arrived and who, it seemed to Miss Hanson, ought to be the text to leave.

"A nice neat, pleasant sort of girl," Miss Hanson was telling Mr. Michael Grayson in a condescending sort of way—condescending not, of course, toward Mr. Grayson but toward the girl in question. "But she simply won't do. She isn't the type—she doesn't belong—and besides she can't manage her typewriter."

"Oh, well, all right," snapped Michael Grayson, who sometimes resorted to the efficient methods of his stenographer who was ten years his senior and had a way of treating him like a nephew.

Obviously Miss Hanson had some special prejudice against Miss Jay. But they decided not to tell her of her fate until pay day. Then they would give her a week's salary and tell her to come back. That was the system at Grayson's.

Neither he nor Miss Hanson saw her that evening go down the hall to the stockroom where she sought and found Larry, the shipping clerk and office opener. You know you promised me a key to the office," she whispered to him. "Don't say anything to anyone, Larry. It's all right. You know you promised—" and with a little coaxing Miss Doris Jay was going her way the cheerful possessor of the key.

Then as Miss Hanson went out she stopped to see Larry. She asked him about a girl he knew who might want a job. "We're letting Miss Jay go tomorrow," "Miss Jay," exclaimed Larry. "I don't believe she knows it well, of course, I haven't anything to say about it."

"Of course, you haven't, Larry," agreed Miss Hanson acridly. "This Miss Jay isn't the sort of girl we usually employ here. I hope you understand."

Larry didn't understand in the least. Miss Jay was neat, trim and good to look upon but not in the least what Larry would call "flashy." Perhaps her work had been up to the mark but she had only been there two weeks. Larry went home and continued to worry about the key until seven that night. Then he boldly called up Mr. Michael Grayson at his home and told his employer of the key.

Michael Grayson said that there could be no harm in giving the key to the girl, who doubtless had some work she wanted to do before opening house in the morning. Then he got to thinking about it. Miss Hanson had said that the girl "didn't belong." Michael hadn't had the most remote idea of what she meant by that, but perhaps she really had some suspicion of the girl.

Michael let himself into the outer office. "Hello," he called out, "anyone around?" Then there in his own office with the door open between it and the outer office—he saw Doris. It was Doris Jay surely—but Doris in a dust cap. She wore an enormous apron hanging longer than her trim little frock, and when he first saw her there she was on her knees applying what appeared to be furniture oil to the end of his desk.

"Oh, I never thought you'd come," she cried. "It was just trying to clean things up here a little. I heard you say that it annoyed you because the cleaning woman never really cleaned your office, and it drives me most crazy—the dust and everything. So I just made up my mind to come back. I brought some soap and some cloths and some furniture polish and I found an old pal in here—and, well, I'm getting things so they look a little better."

Michael was standing there smiling with boundless pleasure and admiration.

Doris went on: "Maybe I'm a poor typist—Miss Hanson told me I was of no use in an office—but I just made up my mind that I'd try to do a little to earn my salary. And I knew you said the dust at—jed ron, too."

Michael begged her to stop, assuring her that he didn't want her to do such hard work and that he was afraid she would ruin her nice hands. But Doris refused to quit.

"I'll stick around here then," he said, "until you are through. And then I want to take you some place nice to have something to eat. I ran out without half finishing my dinner, and I'll buy you two tickets."

The next day he gave Miss Hanson orders—quite drastic orders, too—to do nothing about discharging Miss Jay. Miss Hanson smiled and did as she was told. A week later he told her to take Miss Jay's name off the payroll.

"I thought you'd come to your senses," smirked the able stenographer. "I knew you'd want her to leave."

"I certainly do," said Michael. "But not for the reason you think. I'm going to marry Doris Jay and I'd rather not have the girl I'm engaged to working in my office."

Diabolical Spiegelstein—How did Prossit get even with his hard-boiled boss? "Genschel"—He tried him out on his wife's biscuits.

WEST FARMINGTON

The west half of the West Farmington school will give an entertainment Tuesday evening at 8:00 o'clock for the benefit of the east half. The program will be presented by the parents and will be entirely home talent.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Green spent Monday and Tuesday in Detroit called, there by the death of Mrs. Green's sister.

Mr. and Mrs. John Tamm entertained a group of friends from Detroit, Sunday.

Mrs. Ray Marsh, who has been ill, is regaining her health.

Mrs. Frank Cox gave her husband a pleasant birthday party at their home Tuesday evening.

Guests present were, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Layland and son of Redford, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Cox and family of Howell and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cox of Howell.

Miss Price is spending this week at West Farmington as applicant for teacher of rural schools under state supervision. Miss Price is from County Normal.

Fred Kurtz had the misfortune to have his arm broken Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Kurtz entertained Mrs. Kurtz's cousin, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ash of Detroit, Sunday afternoon.

Ethel Graham, who is attending Pontiac Business College, spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Starr Graham.

Mr. and Mrs. William Kurtz attended the funeral of Mrs. Spicer at Plymouth, Friday.

Emma Kurtz and daughter, Dorothea, and Mrs. Harvey Robinson spent Wednesday in Pontiac on business.

The 4-H clubs of boys and girls of Nichols, West Bloomfield and Bond schools will hold their achievement day, April 1 at 3:00 o'clock at the Bond schoolhouse.

LARGE CROWD ATTENDS SENIOR SPRING FROLIC

A crowd of more than 100 couples attended the spring frolic given by the Senior Class of Farmington High School at the Glenoaks Golf club last Friday night. The class netted a profit of more than $50, which will help defray the senior's Washington trip expenses. This was the final dance party of the season to be given by the 1931 class.

The hall was decorated in St. Patrick's day style. A Pontiac orchestra furnished the music.

Duluth is in the midst of a great moral reform. Pictures of cigarette-smoking girls have been barred from the city's billboards.

In order to encourage marriages and thereby stimulate business, Jefferson City, Mo., jeweler has announced that he will buy marriage licenses for any willing couples.

Auction Sale!

I will sell at public auction on the property located between Beech road and Ford Republic road, ¼ mile north of 8-Mile road on Farmington drive. Watch for signs on 8-Mile road.

Tuesday March 31

Beginning at 12:30 o'clock sharp

The following property:

- 5 Horses
- 1 New Milk Cow and Calf
- 8 Heifers, 1 Bull Calf, 13 months
- 3 Brood Sows due April 16th
- 50 Chickens
- 3 Geese
- 30 Bushel Certified Potatoes
- 10 Bushel Early Ohio
- 1 Ton Baled Straw
- Farm tools and other articles too numerous to mention.

Cash Sales.

Fred Simmons

Harry Ellis, Auctioneer
R. G. Blain, Clerk.

SATURDAY SPECIALS

Special Price On Premium Ham and Bacon

Pot Roast 18c

HOME MADE Pork Sausage 2 lbs. 25c

Henry Pauline
"Everything for the Table"
Farmington, Mich.

"Young Folks"

Just starting to think a bit seriously about the future, advancing in the business world or getting married, also find that money is quite necessary for anything they want to undertake—and that a savings account is the foundation for everything. Many folks started on the road to happiness via our savings department. What about you?

Peoples State Bank

"The Bank Good Service Is Building"

New Spring Hats for Easter

If it's style you want; if it's the proper color tone you're after—here is a display that gives you everything you want in good Headwear—at the price you're glad to pay.

MEN'S HATS
$1.45 to $3.95

in
PEARL GRAY
BROWN
TEEL GRAY
BLACK
(Wide and narrow bands)

Caps - Grey and Brown Tweeds—
59c, $1, $1.50 and $2

Fred L. Cook & Co.

Fred L. Cook
Phone 10
Adolph Nacker
Farmington

Build Your Dreams Of Solid Stuff

It is a lot of fun building "air castles," projecting our present desires, hopes and ambitions in a rosy future which we longingly await. But those are the dreams, after all. The realities in life tell us in no uncertain language that we build our futures from our own efforts—and that we improve them only when, through steady saving, we are able to grasp the opportunities that come our way.

You can't begin too soon—and it's never too late to start.

Farmington State Savings Bank

MEMBER FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM