WEST POINT LOSES AMATEUR DAY GAME TO HERMAN LAU

Four singles for four runs against Carl Gora proved too much of a lead to be overcome by West Point Park, and the local boys lost the feature game of the Detroit Baseball federation's amateur day program before 4,000 fans at Navin field Sunday afternoon, 6 to 2. The Herman Lau nine, leading team in the Class A sandlot circuit broke up the game in the fifth inning, after it seemed that the Parkers were going to win a slugfest, scoring two runs on five hits in the first two innings. West Point remained in second place as a result of the game.

Hartner, who relieved Goers allowed the Lau's only two hits, and they were unable to score. Goers, who won a brilliant victory against Skrzycki, Thursday, entailing the team to play at Navin Field, pitched good ball until the fifth inning.

Halvory lead the West Point attack with three singles and a double. Hammerschmidt, the Park catcher, got two out of four. For the Lau's, Kenny, Headlee, and Isola each got two hits.

West Point started off with a bang. Halvory, first up, singled and scored on C. Wolfrom's single after Hobbins had sacrificed. Again in the second, West Point scored a run on singles by Halvory and Hammerschmidt after Millross had reached first on Wagner's error.

Singles by Isola and Kenny gave Lau a run in the third, and by Headlee and McLaughlin, in the fourth. In the fifth, the Lau big inning. Isola, Gerard, Headlee, and Worster scored but Bowers was safe on an error. Goers showed form during the inning striking out Henry and McLaughlin.

The program was arranged to raise funds for the support of the federation. Lau, to date has lost one game in nine starts. West Point has won seven and lost five.

Wire Cable With "Teeth" of Sand Cuts Out Slate

A saw with teeth of sand is used to saw out large blocks in the slate beds of Pennsylvania.

This ingenious device consists of a three-strand wire cable, which is built into an endless belt. The cable is guided by orienting pulleys, which adjust themselves to the face to be sawed. As it arrives at the point to be cut, sand is spilled over the cable by means of a stream of water, the particles of sand lodging in the twists of the cable.

The cable drags the sand, under considerable pressure and at high speed, against the bed of the slate and rapidly cuts its way through, the cutting of the cable larger than the diameter of the cable.

The savings effected by this means run into a figure as much as 50 per cent of the usual amount of waste.

Experimenting is going on to work out a method of cutting the slate into the size of sheets to be shipped out by piling several slabs on top of each other and cutting them all at once with the wire saw.

Snakes, when not in a hurry, can climb a leaning tree or the slippery slope of a wet rock. They are brisk travelers on the levels, and can turn on an extraordinary speed when in chase or flight they slither downhill. But any wide stretch of loose sand or dust pulls them up. Between the scrubs of Peole's point and the mangroves of Tibbo beach, on the N. S. W. south coast, lies an expanse of drifting powdery sand, writes a Sydney Bulletin contributor. Sometimes a snake trying to cross from one cover to the other gets stranded. As the crawler advances upon the ashlake surface he pushes forward a wave of sand with every sinuous heave. Sighing of the heavy going, he turns back, scooping out of the yielding sand a basin, the rim of which affords no scale hold. He squirms frantically to escape but only deepens the depression. In the end he dies of exhaustion or is scooped up by a swamp hawk or a kookaburra.

Noted English Porcelain.

Spode is the name of an English porcelain made at the pottery of Josiah Spode in Staffordshire, England. Spode was born in 1754 and died in 1827. He manufactured dessert services, Spode cups, and Spode jugs or pitchers, large and long-slipped with a capacity of a gallon. When sixteen years of age, he is credited with having begun to make feldspar porcelain at Stoke-upon-Trent, and introduced into his composition crushed bone which was a soft, base giving a very transparent body. His pieces were highly decorated with floral and ornithological designs, and were highly gilded. Succeeded by his son, the firm he established became one of the leading houses in the industry—Literary Digest.

Famous Police Quarters

Scotland Yard in London derives its name from the palace, which from the time of Edgar to Henry II, was assigned for the residence of Scottish kings whenever they visited that city. Scotland Yard in London is the headquarters of the Metropolitan police force. The first police office was located in Whitehall in Scotland Yard and from there removed in the autumn of 1850 to the new building on the Thames embankment, now known as New Scotland Yard, in which all the branches of the Metropolitan police force, including the famous criminal investigation department, are located.

Cattle Differentiation

The Department of Agriculture says that it understands that in Holland there have been for many years both red-and-white and black-and-white Holstein-Friesians. A great many of the breed in this country carry recessive hereditary factors determining red color. Consequently, not infrequently red-and-white calves will be secured from registered black-and-white parents. The Holstein-Friesian association, however, will not register the red-and-white offspring in this country even though they come from registered Holstein-Friesian parents—Washington Star.

Valuable Rubber Tree

The latex of Euphorbia Intisy, which flows from any cut in the plant, coagulates in the air without further treatment. The bands of rubber thus formed are of very high quality. This shrub or small tree is native to Madagascar and with its discovery in 1891 and its following commercial exploitation the plant has been almost exterminated. The United States Department of Agriculture has secured specimens and is experimenting with them in a hope of adapting this remarkable rubber tree to growth in this country.

Actors Without Jealousy

The performers in the Oberammergau number about 700 persons, and it is said to be the only band of its kind where there is no professional jealousy and no exhibitions of artistic temperament. The actors receive only a very small sum for their efforts, the main proceeds going to charity. And as taking a part in the play is looked upon as an act of natural devotion, none of the 700 tries in the slightest way to outshine the rest.

Get Up Nights? Make This 25c Test

Use this easy bladder physac to drive out impurities and excess acids which cause irritation that results in leg pains, backache, burning and getting up nights. RU-KETS, the bladder physac, containing bucky, juniper oil, etc., works on the bladder pleasantly and effectively as castor oil on the bowels. Get a 25c box (5 grain size) from your druggist. After four days, if not relieved of getting up nights go back and get your money. You are bound to feel better after this cleansing and you get your regular sleep.
