East Lansing—Milk producers and milk consumers will have a chance to see just how much work is involved in the production of milk, its care in handling and in its distribution when they visit the exhibit which is being prepared for the State Fair at Detroit by Michigan State College.

The home economics department of the College will have a section of the exhibit to show the many ways in which milk and dairy products can be used on the family table. Ways to make milk products an attractive food for children will be a part of this exhibit.

Scientific tests are to be made to determine whether the American continent is moving toward or away from Europe. Statements have been trying to discover something of the kind for quite a spell.—Pittsburgh Post-Gazette.

The best way to get rid of the farm surplus is to make fat women fashionable again. The reason father doesn't eat so much wheat and corn products as usual, is that mother doesn't prepare 'em any more on account of the calories.
