

wood creek farms

By ANNE M. PHILLIPS MA 6-6335

Fred and Zella Missal and Nevin and Mildred Hummer were the four Wood Creekers in a group of 175 Shriners who left here Sept. 24 for a trip to Europe.

They went to both East and West Berlin. From there they flew to Frankfurt where they took a motor coach trip through villages to the Rhine River where they boarded a boat to see many medieval castles.

They went to Heidelberg and on to Munich where they visited a Bavarian Castle, through the Alpine Lakes to Berchtesgaden; through a beautiful green valley hemmed in by snow capped mountains to Innsbruck; to Lienz and Lucerne, Switzerland.

They took the cog railroad to the summit of Mt. Pilatus, sometimes climbing at a 47 degree angle, then down by cable car. In Zurich they went to the shop before the return flight. They reached home Oct. 9 after a memorable trip.

JIM AND MARILYN Brown had another trip to Spain. They left here Oct. 6 flying to Malaga and staying in Torá Malaga.

They rented a car to drive through the beautiful Spanish countryside to Seville, Spain also had a very dry summer. They flew home last Thursday with headwinds so strong the plane had to land at Bangor, Maine, to refuel, but it gave them a glimpse of the spectacular fall coloring of that region at this time of the year.

Bruce Carlson has had a different but very interesting trip. He flew to Guyana June 22 where he joined Fred Cichocki, a friend from the University of Michigan who was working there on his PhD project.

Fred had been there three months at the Rupununi degree angle, then down by cable car. In Zurich they went to the shop before the return flight. They reached home Oct. 9 after a memorable trip.

matter has not yet been settled.

In August, which is the rainy season there, they went to see some of Guyana going to Kaituma Falls and up the Mazaruni River to the north-west part of the country which is near Venezuela. They then returned to the capital of Guyana, Georgetown, and flew home Sept. 22. Bruce is now trying to decide what he will do next—the Peace Corps appeals to him but no decision has been made as yet.

Garden Club met in our house for a buffet dinner followed by a very fine program given by Conrad and Marian Lamm.

They went to Russia this summer to a medical convention and took a lot of interesting pictures. Conrad ran the slides and Marian gave the explanations.

This week a college classmate of Paul's and wife came to spend a few days with us. There was a lot of college reminiscing plus quite a bit of bridge.

WINNER OF $300 in a contest at Crowley's Livonia Mall store was Mrs. Audrey Good-fellow of 29142 Pickford, Livonia. Store manager Gilbert Newberry makes the presentation.
