NEW SERVICE IS PROVIDED BY BELL TELEPHONE SYSTEM

Subscribers May Now Send Type-written Messages Over Long Distance Wires

A new communication service has been made available by the Michigan Bell Telephone Company, the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and the other Associated Companies in the Bell System.

This new service which is announced by Burch Foraker, president of the Michigan Bell Company, consists in the establishment and operation of central switching exchanges for teletypewriters, —machines that type-write electrically over wires to a distant teletypewriter. Any subscriber to the service can obtain connection with the teletypewriter of any other subscriber to the service within the same city or in a distant city and this will permit the immediate transmission of letters, typewritten or statements or other information between the two subscribers. In effect, the method used for inter-connection of the instruments is the same as that now employed in the telephone system.

The present teletypewriter service of the Bell System is furnished only in connection with private wires which are not connected to control switching points. This private wire service, now widely used for inter-office communication, will be continued as heretofore. The new switching service through teletypewriter exchanges is now possible because of developments in apparatus and operation. These permit intercommunication by teletypewriter on a nation-wide basis just as the development of telephone switchboards made possible the interconnection of telephone instruments.

Old Thoroughfare

The first mention of Broadway, New York city, was in 1613, when a land transfer is recorded as located on that thoroughfare. The name was derived from the thoroughfare being a broad way in the same manner that highway received its appellation. The Romans elevated all their roads above the adjacent land to drain off the water, hence a highway is higher and a broadway is broader than a lane.

PLACE CHRISTMAS SEALS IN SCHOOLS FOR DISTRIBUTION

Annual Drive Against Tuberculosis Starts, As Seals Go On Sale

Christmas seals have been sent out by the Michigan Tuberculosis Association to all schools in the County where they may now be secured. A special appeal is being made to citizens this year to double the amount of stamps usually purchased, if financially able to do so, in an increased effort to stamp out the "White Plague."

Many uses are being found for Christmas seals at this time of the season. Besides their usual use on Christmas packages and greeting cards, many people are placing two or three of them on ordinary correspondence.

The Christmas seal shown above is a replica of the 1931 seals that are now being distributed. The tiny horses and coaches are part of the old-time coaching scene. The cheery "Christmas Greetings" and the double-barred cross, are emblematic of the anti-tuberculosis movement.

Facts About the Telephone

St. Michaels is the only island in the Azorean Archipelago on which telephone service is maintained.

More than 240,000 stockholders of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, or two-fifths of the total number, have owned their shares continuously for five years or more.

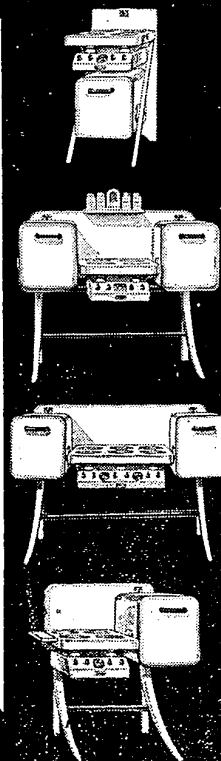

A new telephone cable is to be laid between Denmark and Sweden. It will be about 40 miles in length and will contain a special circuit for the transmission of radio broadcasting programs.

There was a gain of over 12,000 Bell telephones for the first six months of 1931 in the territory of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, which operates in Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, and the District of Columbia.
