Varies in Localities Temperature plays an important part in the flowering of the rice plant. Rice flowers are relatively inconspiten-ous, but an official of the United States Department of Agriculture, who works on the improvement of the rice crop, has studied the blooming habits of the plant in connection with the cross-breading of varieties. of the plant in connection with the cross-breeding of varieties. The rice plant blooms suddenly and for only a short time. One observer noted a complete opening of the dower in thirty seconds. The blooming con-tinued for only aboit two hours. Rice flowers are rarely open before the sun of has warmed the earth and ale, and they close before the sun is far down. In the Datied States and in Japan the close blooms later than on warmer areas, such as Java. Bait and the Philipple is later than the in warmer ers any, rice will not bloom runter terperature bloom the tempera-ture runes high as a rule and rice hoom most freely in the earth warming hours anois after the dew expo-rutes, and the flowers close before the heat of noon. In California the mar-sifter noon.

Inum period of bloom is the two nours after non. Rice has a complete flower, and usu-ally fertilizes itself. It "breeds true", and there is little cross-fertilization. The pollen from the stamens fertilizes the stigms in the same plant, usually before or at the time the flower opens. Easy Way of Inducing
