HUDSON HEAD SAYS
MANS OF COMPANY
FOUNDED ON FAITH

Automobile Established in Lives of People in Opinion of Hudson Executive

By W. J. McAneeny, President of the Hudson Motor Car Co.)

The plans of the Hudson Motor Car Company are based on faith in the fact that the American people will never want to get along without automobiles. They have noticed that people continue to pay for their automobiles and that they are the last things given up.

Every youth coming of age looks forward to the time when he can own an automobile. It is the first thing that young couples buy after they are married. The automobile is established in the lives of our people. Nothing takes its place.

It is not my intention to predict because predictions have gone out of fashion. Too few of them have been proven to be correct and able to stand the test of time. Neither is it my intention to merge the current statement that the "automobile" industry will lead us out of our present economic situation. This is not true. No industry will lead the way, but all will work their way out together in one grand march.

Today we have more productive capacity than the ability of our people to consume. This situation is true of many industries. There is more coffee in the world today than people can drink and yet a superior brand placed in a superior package will sell—just as a superior automobile giving greater value and finer appearance will sell. There is always a demand for a product which stimulates the desire of ownership. Such products will get a goodly share of the business if they are backed up by the earnest and intelligent merchandising efforts.

With a product of outstanding value the palm is sure to go to the man who back up their offerings by plain, simple, intelligent, hard work.
