Moog Music To Debut At Schoolcraft Oct. 29

The man who tamed the Moog - that hunk of dials and plugs capable of electronically synthesizing a million years' worth of different sounds - will be in concert with four of them at Schoolcraft College.

Gershon Kingsley and his First Moog Quartet will appear in Schoolcraft's main gymnasium at 8 p.m. Oct. 29. The college is on Haggerty south of Six Mile in Livonia.

THE MOOG (rhymes with vogue) Synthesizer, a creation of engineer Robert A. Moog, was introduced to Kingsley a few years ago and it changed his life. Fascinated by its potential, he invested most of the money he had in the world to buy the electronic marvel.

Kingsley says the mastering of one synthesizer is enough to make anyone's hair stand on end especially when getting involved in the complexities of putting sound on record to gain the texture of a complete orchestration.

"When I mentioned six months ago that I intended to use four synthesizers at the same time in a live performance, people looked at me as if I had lost my head or that certain frequencies from the synthesizer had damaged my brain cells."

Four expert keyboard men, one a native Detroit, perform at the Moogs. Each was carefully selected by Kingsley from the nearly 100 he auditioned.

Kenneth Bichel, born in Detroit, received his training at the Baldwin-Wallace College in Berea, Ohio and the Julliard School of Music. He was guest soloist with the Lima Symphony Orchestra, the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra and the Interlochen Arts Academy's Orchestra. He has given numerous solo recitals for the Cranbrook Music Guild and the Detroit Musicians' League, among others.

He records for Atlantic Records and is pianist-composer - arranger for the newly formed Dave Brewer Jazz Quartet. Bichel is a recipient of a 1965 $1,000 piano scholarship.

ALSO PERFORMING at Moogs are Stan Free, Eric W. Knight and Howard Salat. Assisting artists for the concert include Lea Horen, soprano, Mike Redding, percussion, and Richard Nanieta, Fender bass.

The concert at Schoolcraft will be presented in two parts. The first includes the music of Bichel, Gabrieli, Rachmanninoff, Lennon and McCartney. Part two culminates in a "Patriotic Moogiana" melody of "Dixie," "When Johnnie Comes Marching Home," and "Stars and Stripes."

Tickets are $3 for general public, $2 for Schoolcraft students and staff. They may be purchased in advance at the student activities office, and at the door the night of the concert.

6 From Area In WMU Play

The musical "West Side Story" will be presented in the James W. Miller Auditorium at Western Michigan University on Nov. 3, 4, 5 and 6. Tickets are on sale at the box office.

Students from the area in the production are Dennis Visca, Diana Burgel and Alex House of Livonia; Susan Crichon of Southfield; and Robert Cooper-Brown and Jeffrey Osterhage of Farmington.

'October 31st' Exhibit Is Set

A weird and wonderful exhibition entitled "October 31st" will open Halloween weekend in the Bloomfield Art Association, 1516 S. Cranbrook.

An invitational show, "October 31st" is an exploration of the influence of mysticism and fetishes on contemporary art.

The exhibit opens to members and their guests with a "Weird and Wonderful Faces" party Saturday, Oct. 30. It opens to the public Oct. 31 and runs to Nov. 27.
