"An Electric Range was a luxury when we were married. ... Now I couldn't be without mine!"

... IT'S AN ELECTROCHEF

"Only well-to-do families could afford electric ranges when WE started house-keeping—so of course we didn't have one. But nowadays, with the Electrochef so low-priced, and its cooking cost so low, I wouldn't be without it! If every young housewife today knew what a difference this modern stove makes, an Electrochef would be the first thing she'd insist on in her kitchen. It's not only the cleanliness and the beauty of my range that I like, but also the delicious flavor retained by electric cooking. Very little water is needed for electric cooking, and meats and vegetables cook in their own juices. All the healthful food values and natural elements are retained, instead of being lost in steam. Brides today are lucky to be able to start housekeeping with an Electrochef. This lovely range makes cooking a real pleasure!"
