Wayne Chorus Sings With Band

Gordon Limburg's Wayne Wonderland Chorus will appear with the Plymouth Community Band at a concert Sunday, Oct. 31, at 4 p.m. in the auditorium of the new Plymouth High School, Joy and Canton Center Roads.

The chorus is the current Pioneer District barbershop champion and was given a standing ovation when it appeared with the band last summer in Kellogg Park.

BANDMASTER James Griffith will lead the band in a program which will include marches by the late K.L. King, highlights from Gilbert and Sullivan's "HMS Pinafore" and Kalinikov's "Finale" from Symphony No. 1 in G minor. The concert will be in G minor. The concert will end with selections from the broadway musical "Mame." The band is beginning its 14th year as a concert and scholarship awarding organization. It was begun in 1958 as a five-piece German band and has grown to a 50-piece concert band.

MEMBERS OF the band come from as far as Detroit for rehearsals, and the band is open to anyone who qualifies. The organization has awarded 58 scholarships, marched in 14 parades and entertains between 20,000 and 25,000 people annually at its concerts. It is supported by donations from the community, the Plymouth Credit Union, Community Fund, the Jaycees, the Rotary Club, the Kiwanis and the Women's Club of Plymouth.

A DOLL'S HOUSE, written by Henrik Ibsen in 1879 is being revived throughout the country because of today's interest in Women's Liberation. It will be staged at Schoolcraft College, 18600 Haggerty, Livonia, Nov. 4 and 5 at 8 p.m. and Nov. 7 at 7 p.m. Shown above preparing to walk out of the "doll's house" is Karen Schmidt, playing Nora Helmer. Husband Torvald, played by Mark Kellman, tries to stop her.

Kramer Will Give Recital At St. John's

Gale Kramer will give an organ recital on the new Kney pipe organ in St. John's Episcopal Church, 574 S. Sheldon, Plymouth, on Sunday, Nov. 7, at 7 p.m. His program will include the works of Buxtehude, Bach, Couperin, Dupre and Widor.

Kramer is a member of the faculty of Wayne State University and organist at the First Congregational Church in Ann Arbor. He is presently completing requirements for the degree of doctor of musical arts at the University of Michigan, where he is a student of Marilyn Mason. A native of Cleveland, Ohio, he received degrees from Oberlin College and Syracuse University.

The public is invited. A freewill offering will be taken.

Puppetry Is Family Project For Rosenthals

Directing the diverse talents of a growing family into one creative project can be a tough job, but the Rosenthals of Livonia seem to have arrived at a worthwhile solution.

Those who attend the 20th annual book fair, being held in the Jewish Community Center, 18100 Meyers, Detroit, from Nov. 7 through 14, will be able to see the results in an updated version of "Jonah and the Whale," as performed by the Rosenthal Family puppets.

The family consists of father, Avram or "Skip," mother, Marilyn, sons Dan, 15, and Josh, 14, and daughter, Helen, 11.

ALL WORK together on the puppet shows on Sunday afternoons, "the only time we're all home."

Rosenthal, who is head of the library at Henry Ford Community College, works on the narration and music for the shows. A fine classical flutist, he also plays the banjo in the 1890s-1920s style four nights a week at Little Caesar's.

Mrs. Rosenthal, who takes time from working on her Ph.D. in sociology at the University of Michigan, to work on scripts and puppets, along with help from Helen.

Dan and Josh, who are both interested in music, help with the music and the technical side, building the puppet theater for instance.

Dan and Josh, who are both interested in music, help with the music and the technical side, building the puppet theater for instance.

The Rosenthals have been engaged on this activity for the past six years, starting it as a Hanukkah project for their own amusement and for friends. Later they were asked to perform for non-Jewish school children to help explain the Hanukkah celebration.

MRS. ROSENTHAL views the Jonah story as particularly pertinent to these times. As she tells it, or as the puppets tell it, "Nineveh is in a mess. It doesn't matter what kind of mess. The important thing is that Jonah is a man who can't face up to the problem his town is having and so he runs away. But then he realizes that you can't run away from your community's problems."

Last year's performance for the book fair was based on the Tower of Babel, which Mrs. Rosenthal used to illustrate the origin of languages and the need for peace, giving the familiar story a "20th century humanistic approach."

The Gourmet Adventures of

DICK BENSK

When Louis XVIII came to the throne of France in 1815, he instituted a tasting jury to select fruits for the royal table. One day his peach taster, who was also the librarian for the Royal Institute, was approached by a humble gardener, bringing some peaches for him to taste. The peach-taster was overcome by the luscious-looking fruit, and immediately cut into the first peach. That morsel was so good, he quickly asked for a slice of the second peach. "Good, very good," were his remarks as he cut into the third peach. By the time the fourth peach had been sliced, the taster was convinced. "Congratulations, my friend," he said, "your peaches will be served at the King's table." His decision had obviously been a pleasure in the making!

We take great pleasure in the cooking and serving of foods to satisfy even the most discriminating diner. Call for reservations at DANISH INN, 32306 Grand River Ave., 478-5320. Enjoy memorable jazz, boogie and classical music by the famous Pat Flowers. He is at the piano Tues. thru Sat. from 8:30 p.m. to closing.

HELPFUL HINT: Half a melon is easiest to save when the top of the cut side is covered with a piece of saran wrap.
