"One Hand Must Wash The Other"

A homely old saying it is, "One hand must wash the other," and yet it expresses perfectly the spirit by which communities live and grow—the spirit that must be present if any community it to go on and prosper—to realize its greatest possibilities.

It is this spirit that guides us in our efforts to accomplish that which will bring the greatest good to all in our community.

Soft-Ball Playing Is Planned This Summer

Farmington business-men, employees of business-places, and other adult men of the community do not have enough outdoor recreation. So it is believed by some active men of the town and to supply this lack, a lot of fun is planned for the coming warm months.

It is planned to play "indoor" baseball, a game every man can enjoy. All who would like to play are asked to gather at the grounds south of the Farmington School buildings on Thoma street next Wednesday evening April 27, at 6:30 p. m. It is hoped that enough interest will be shown to assure regular play. The usual soft-ball will be used.

The fun is not restricted to business-men or their employes, and anyone who wants a good time is welcomed. George Gilmeister, and G. H. "Curly" Williams have been active in making plans.
