sides," but none of the teams is believed to have enough of a "corner" on superior talent to give it much of an advantage.

Those who inaugurated the idea were particularly pleased to find that men over a wide range of ages have responded, and the spirit is "the more the merrier."

Should enough additional men turn out, it is possible that another team would be formed, to assure everyone a chance to play.

One mishap occurred last Friday night, the first since play was started. In a collision at third base between Les Doyle, playing that position, and Dr. G. F. Weaver, running toward the base, Mr. Doyle was somewhat worsted. He played out the inning, but found later that he had cracked two ribs. It is hoped, however, that this unusual accident will not keep others from the field.

TELLS OF ORATORS

In the absence of a program at Farmington Exchange Club Wednesday noon, President N. H. Fowler entertained the members with accounts of some old-time political rallies and orations he recalled from earlier days, among them speeches by James G. Blaine and William McKinley.

County Agent Offers "Spraying Reminders"

Fruit crops in this section may be aided if the growers will follow a series of "Spraying Reminders" issued for this period by K. D. Bailey, County agricultural agent. Mr. Bailey's hints for the growers follow:

The general indications are that the fruit crop this year will be less than in 1931. Stone fruits in particular have been badly injured in many districts. While it would be hazardous at this time to predict the size of the crop or the market price for 1932, it is evident that growers should make every reasonable effort to grow fruit this year of the best possible quality in order to get the greatest return from it. The following suggestions are offered, not as specific recommendations for each grower, but as general reminders of what needs to be done to insure satisfactory insect and disease control. Study the Spraying Calendar carefully in connection with these suggestions.

Apples

The preblossom applications on apples are usually very important for the control of scab and aphids. Failure in the preblossom period with either is almost sure to result in many eggs on the trees now and if weather conditions later are favorable, serious injury can result. Apple scab in the old leaves is maturing rapidly and indications that early protection against scab will be necessary. Failure to control the early primary infestations makes later control very difficult or impossible.

Delayed-dormant. — Spray as soon as any appreciable amount of growth appears. Use lime sulphur, 2½ gallons, nicotine sulphate, 1 pint, and water to make 100 gallons. Add 3 pounds of lead arsenate if curculio has been a factor. Aphid control depends on very thorough applications, completing each tree or each row as a unit. "Spraying with the wind" is unsatisfactory for Aphid control.

Prepink. — The length of the period between the delayed dormant stage and the pink or cluster stage will vary according to the weather. The number of applications should be governed by the rate of growth, being sure that the young leaves and buds are protected at all times. If this period is prolonged one or even two applications may be necessary. This is the latest period at which nicotine may be used satisfactorily for the control of rosy aphids and the spring infestation of the green apple aphid.

Pink application. — All apples should be sprayed in the pink stage, that is, after the buds have separated in the clusters. Use lime-sulphur, 2½ gallons, and water to make 100 gallons. Add 3 pounds of lead arsenate for chewing insects.

Pears

The number of applications necessary on pears in the preblossom period varies greatly between varieties and districts. Scab is always a factor in all parts of the state on Flemish Beauty but usually not on other varieties. In southwestern Michigan scab is likely to be serious on most varieties. The growers in each district should adapt the pear schedule to meet local and varietal conditions.

Delayed-dormant or prepink. — Spray with bordeaux 3-8-100 and 3 pounds of lead arsenate. If pear leaf blight mite has been prevalent, substitute lime-sulphur as an early delayed dormant (See Section 45 in Spraying Calendar).

Pink. — Use bordeaux, 3-8-100 and lead arsenate 3 pounds. Spray all varieties.

Cherries

Aphid Control. — Sweet cherries should be sprayed for the black cherry aphid just as the buds swell but before they burst. Use nicotine sulphate, 1 pint, lime-sulphur, 2½ gallons, and water to make 100 gallons. Spray very thoroughly. 100 per cent control is essential.

Quinces

Preblossom. — After leaves are well started, spray with bordeaux 3-5-100 and lead arsenate, 3 pounds.

Plums

Preblossom. — Just as leaf buds burst and before blossoms open, spray with lead arsenate, 3 pounds in 100 gallons of water.

Currents and Gooseberries

When terminal leaves are ½ to 1 inch in length, spray with bordeaux 8-12-100, lead arsenate, 2 pounds, and nicotine sulphate, 1 pint.

Raspberries

Black raspberries, dewberries or other brambles affected with anthracnose should be sprayed when the buds show green. Use lime-sulphur, 10 gallons, and water to make 100 gallons.

Field Resigns, Lee Named As Fire Chief

Farmington has a new fire chief, Norman C. Lee. Mr. Lee was appointed Monday night by Mayor Lamb following acceptance of the resignation of, Bernard Banfield, who is moving to a residence on Grand River west of town.

Ed. Thayer was appointed assistant chief, and G. H. "Curly" Williams was named for the vacant place as a member of the department. Mayor Lamb thanked the retiring chief for his service to the City.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER

BANQUETS NEXT WEEK

Three Mother-and-Daughter banquets will be held at Farmington next week. At the Evangelical church dinner Wednesday evening Mrs. Ethel Duffy of Detroit will speak. An unusually complete and interesting program has been prepared for the Methodist banquet on Thursday evening. The Baptist church event, with an attractive program, will conclude the Mother and Daughter affairs for the year on Friday evening.

MRS. VOIGHT PASSES

Mrs. Walter Voight, 60 years old Parkside Drive, Clarenceville, died Thursday at Receiving Hospital, Redford. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Grace Campana and Mrs. Florence Taylor and a son, Claude.

Funeral arrangements are to be made later.

MRS. SPRAGUE MARRIED

Mrs. Anna Sprague, mother of Mrs. Carey Coe of North Farmington, was married to Fred T. Weaver of Cherry Creek, New York, Wednesday at the Methodist parsonage by Rev. Floyd Charles Johnson.

The Builder

One of the finest poems in our language tells of an old man, who, after having crossed at evening "a chasm deep and wide," "turned and built a bridge to span the tide," although he "never again would pass that way."

Asked why he built the bridge, he responded that he was building, not for himself, but for "some fair-haired youth whose feet must pass this way." So with all of us—we must not think and work just for today, but for those who must follow in our footsteps.
