Edgewater Park Opens On Saturday Evening

Once more comes the call of the great outdoors and with it comes the opening of Edgewater Park, the garden of amusement on the banks of the River Rouge, on Saturday, May 28. Never before in all its history has Edgewater Park planned such a gala opening with new and varied entertainment features.

Romeo J. Sampson, known everywhere for his daring in wild animal training, will thrill thousands every evening when he steps into a specially constructed exhibition cage to make the jungle kings behave.

Then everyone will want to view the Tropical Gardens with its population of hundreds of reptiles, including the deadly rattlesnakes, copperheads, corals, moccasins and cobras.

Prices have been given a downward shove in keeping with the trend of the times.

Jean Goldkette's Edgewater Park ballroom is co-operating in this program featuring a new electrically lighted rainbow dome, a new floor and music by the South-bound Shufflers from New Orleans, Louisiana.
