A BOX OFFICE success before it even opens is the Farmington Play-er's production of "See How They Run." The play opens Nov. 5, but there are only a limited number of tickets still available for the Nov. 18 performance which has been added because of the demand. Shown in the English vicarage setting for the comedy are three of the stars, from left, Mike Cul-len, Debbie Messer and Bob Gregory. For tickets, call Eleanor or Dale Johnson, 24125 Locust Drive, Farmington. (Evert photo)

BAD MEDICINE? — "But you haven't tasted it yet. How do you know you don't like it?" asks Kanga of the reluctant Winnie-the-Pooh. (Fran Evert photo) production is directed by Debbie Dielenheim and Chris Eger.

WHILE THE cast has been rehearsing, the rest of the class has been kept busy with technical aspects of the production. Chairmen of all the crews are Darcie Layne and Mary Lueder.

Production staff members are: Jeff Hill, lighting; Nancy Moffatt, properties; Dan King, scenic design and construction; Diane Hamilton, makeup; Aprille Jordan, costume design; Vicki Holmes and Dave Beglin, program design and printing; Jan Ingram, elementary school promotion; and Pam Clifford, ticket and publicity chief.

Although elementary children are being asked to wait until after the premier to see Winnie, all other ages are urged to support the class in its attempts to bring good theatre to the area. "We hope the production will be entertaining and educational to all," says Miss Dielenheim, "For many of the students it will be their first look at live theatre and we want it to be rewarding."

Co-director Chris Eger adds: "If we can give all people at any age a taste of the theatre arts, they can begin early to develop an appreciation of aesthetic and cultural concepts."

"An important part of the school's purpose and responsibility is to open all doors available to as many areas as possible. We feel our new class is fulfilling part of this idea."

the plays to be produced in the last half of the year.

While one group of students has been working on "Winnie-the-Pooh," another group has begun rehearsing a full-length play, "Twelve Angry Women," to be ready the first part of the year.

Along with these two plays, each student will direct a one-act production for the school and community. "Our class is very pragmatic," says Roscoe, "with students doing instead of reading how to do. Every aspect of producing a play (choosing, casting, selling tickets and cleaning up) is taken care of by the students."
