Mr. Warner said he was not tified by the Sanitorium that the trustees' meeting was to be deferred, but that he was not summoned to attend the confurities. The said he did not know that the said he did not know that the conference had been held until late Tuesday afternoon, and that he is still unable to understand why he was not notified.

"No Official Word"

Dr. Sutherland, chairman, told the supervisors' committee that the trustees had received no communication from the board of supervisors relative to their recommendation of engaging a business manager for the Sanitorium. The only information that the supervisors was stated, came from newspaper reports. Thereupon copies of the majosity report of the supervisors' original investigating committee, which was adopted by the board of supervisors, were given to the trustees.

supervisors, were given to the trustees.

What will be the outcome of the dispute which developed several, months ago following substantial pay cuts meted out at the institution and resignations of the staff in "revolt" against Superintendent W. I. Werner, is as doubtful as ever. The trustees continue to assert that the hiring of a business manager in place of the book-keeper, with consequent increase in the payroll, is unnecessary and would be a waste of money. The supervisors urging appointment of a business manager declare that it is necessary to relieve Dr. Werner and the trustees of details in administrative work.

Brides And Bass

Greetings to you, month of June!
The world is all in tune.
The bull frogs bass from out the pads
Melts in the lovers' croon.

The moon smiles down, a silver ball, Upon a small canoe Lotharios their stories tell As they their sweethearts woo.

The fisherman gets out his pole, A fond look in his eye, For soon he'll find his blue-gill hole And get some fish to fry.

His fancy lures, he brushes up All ready for the cast, Which in his fancy brings to him A five pound big mouth bass.

From thirty down the lovers spoon, For June's for lad and lass; From thirty up the trolling spoon For June brings fighting bass.

A lover's moon, a casting spoon, Moonlight, a lad a lass. A singing line and all is fine, For June's for Brides and Bass.
