Dog's Ears Serve Mistress; He Tells Her When Bells Ring

Max doesn't boast of his ancestry, but he is proud of his responsibility as "ears" for Mrs. L. C. Thiemke, of Omaha, Neb. When the door bell rings, or the telephone, he nudges her and points the way. And now, with her new "deaf set" telephone, she can carry on a conversation over the wire with perfect ease.

Max is just dog, as anyone would know who looked at him. Hardly the type for a watch dog, yet he is on the alert all day, with ears that prick up at the slightest sound. Sensitive ears they were to be, since they serve both him and his mistress, Mrs. L. C. Thiemke, of Omaha, Neb. She doesn't hear very much; not the sound of a person's voice, nor the noise of bells. Max nudges his mistress, and leads the way to the door. Mrs. Thiemke relies on Max; he doesn't make mistakes.

One day when Max nudged Mrs. Thiemke and headed for the front door, the visitor proved to be Walter Harris, of the Northwestern Bell Telephone Company, came to see about installing telephone service in the Thiemke's new home. When Mrs. Thiemke explained that she is deaf, he used paper and pencil to state his errand. And as he watched Max, he began to see what part the dog plays in that household.

If Max could tell her about the door bell, surely he could inform her when the telephone rang, thought Harris. Ouh, what good would it do? Even if Mrs. Thiemke answered, she couldn't hear what was said to her.

Then, with pad and pencil again, Harris told her about the "deaf set"—the vacuum-tube amplifying telephone, for people with impaired hearing, which increases the volume of the voice in the receiver. Would she be interested in a demonstration of it? Indeed she would.

Again Harris came to the house, this time bringing with him the equipment for the "deaf set" telephone. Busily he went to work installing it. Soon he made a call, handed the receiver to Mrs. Thiemke. In an instant her face beamed. "Oh, I can hear you so plainly," she cried. "Just as though my hearing were perfect."

Max is getting leaner now, what with the added responsibility of notifying his mistress every time the telephone rings, as well as the door bell.

HAWAII-PENNSYLVANIA CALL BRINGS THRILL TO MOTHER "The greatest thrill in my life," says Mrs. James Scott Moore, of Washington, Pa., following a talk by telephone with her son, John D. Moore, of Honolulu. The call from her son came unexpectedly.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Williams and family of River Rouge, and Miss Williams of Canada called on Mr. and Mrs. Harold Billig Sunday evening. Albert Koss is seriously ill at his home on Base Line Road.

ELECTRIC Heat

for small industrial processes

Manufacturers have always known the value of large electric heating applications, but in these days of economizing and cutting costs, the smallest items in a manufacturing process are coming in for their share of scrutiny. Among them are small heating jobs of every variety, such as heating glue or wax pots, melting lead, or heating chemical baths. These provide exceptional opportunity to effect substantial savings in the rigorous work of "trimming corners".

Electric heat on such jobs is often the cheaper method, because it can be confined 100 per cent to its own job rather than heating the surrounding space or "going up the flue". And the cost of electric units to do this work is surprisingly little. For example, a small cartridge supplying a "spot" of heat costs only $2. A "strip" heater which has a multitude of uses may be purchased for $15.00. A liquid-heating unit that is adaptable to any number of jobs is available for $10. And these are only some of the commoner devices. There are countless electric heating units designed exactly to suit your own particular needs.

It will pay you to investigate this subject. Our engineers will gladly discuss with you any heating problem you may have (no matter how small) and submit recommendations. There is no obligation. Call the nearest Detroit Edison Office. (We do not sell this equipment.)
