Return Senator James E. Lawson

Republican Primaries

Not campaigning with house to house solicited signatures, but supported by

Voluntary Endorsement

Oratory does not pass a bill in the Senate or in the Legislature. A bill is successful in passage if a well known, well-liked and conscientious representative proposes this bill and is able to win enough of his fellow law-makers to the affirmative. Mr. Lawson has yet to propose a bill that has not been passed. If you want your Senator to be successful in passing bills for your betterment, then Vote for Senator Lawson.

Your Senator Lawson through hard work in the Senate cut $100,000,000.00 from the assessed valuation of Oakland County. This meant a saving to every taxpayer.

Your Senator Lawson single handed fought for Covert Road relief and now thousands of dollars are saved for the Taxpayers.

Oratory will never pass a bill in either House at Lansing. It is friendship and experience that put things across. Mr. Lawson is the man who alone is qualified in this important respect.

Your Senator Lawson is endorsed by the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, a tribute which every office seeker is anxious to get.... This endorsement was voluntary.

In the interests of impartial representation and of clean, honest and efficient endeavor in the taxpayers and home-owners behalf, vote for Senator Lawson, September 13th.

"Time For A Change," Says Harry E. Curtis

Winding up his first campaign, Harry E. Curtis, Republican Candidate for nomination for Registrar of Deeds said today: "Sentiment throughout the County today clearly reflects a desire of the voters to make a change this year in those County offices which have been monopolized for years by single people. They feel that county department heads could and should be held by married men with dependent families. This department during the last eight years has for some reason perhaps best known to the present incumbent, failed to provide a single position for a married man. Since the salaries of these employees are derived from the tax payer, I cannot see the wisdom or fairness of such a practice. Husbands with families to support make good workers and should not be discriminated against. If nominated and elected, I pledge in addition to my platform more efficient service and rigid economy that this injustice will be corrected." Mr. Curtis will oppose Miss Bronrdige who is completing her 24th year in this department.

Willson Considers The Taxpayer First

IN ALBERT W. WILLSON, the citizens of Oakland County have a man who has served the people of his Town and the County without fear or favor—always making the interest of the taxpayer his first concern, say his friends, who state that by training as Township Treasurer and Supervisor he has come to know taxation in all its phases; as a member of the Board of Supervisors working on committees to settle with County Treasurers and the Auditor General, he had a fair understanding of the work in the Treasurer's office, and now, with his experience as County Treasurer he is the best informed man that it has been the privilege of Oakland County to have as a candidate for County Treasurer. In 1925 Governor Grosbeck sent him as a delegate to the National Tax Association convention at Philadelphia.

Mr. Willson is well versed in the tax laws and court decisions regarding them. There is seldom a day but some tax payer of Oakland County has been given the benefit of this knowledge and experience, and thereby saved them many dollars as well as worry and uncertainty.

The voters of Oakland County are urged to thing these things over before voting.

4 PAST LEADERS OF VETS IN HOME TOWN FOR STORZ

Endorsement of three past commanders of his local American Legion post is one of the impressive expressions of approval which has come to Harold E. Storz of Royal Oak during his present campaign. Mr. Storz, Republican, is a candidate for one of the two nominations for Circuit Court commissioner, to be decided at the primary, September 13.

Mr. Storz' endorsement from Legionnaires is from men who have commanded the Frank Wendtland post, of Royal Oak, one of the large Legion groups in the County.

Mr. Storz has behind him a strong record of public service. Although comparatively youthful, he has already held the highest office in his own community, that of mayor of Royal Oak. He completed his occupancy of that position with satisfaction to the community and general approval of his fellow citizens.

Mr. Storz is a practicing attorney in Royal Oak, where he has spent all of his life. He had his schooling there and at the University of Michigan. The Storz family is one of the best-known among many old and respected families in Royal Oak and vicinity.

Houston "Would Serve In Interest of All"

A leading Democratic candidate for the Congressional nomination in the new Seventeenth District is Henry A. Houston of Pontiac, a "descendant of three generations of Democrats." Known as a high type citizen of genuine intelligence and character, Mr. Houston has attracted Democrats throughout the District to his standard.

Mr. Houston has been a successful business man for 20 years. His career is of special interest from the Democratic point of view, inasmuch as he was a student of constitutional government under Woodrow Wilson.

Mr. Houston emphasizes in his candidacy his desire to "serve all the people—not special groups," and pledges all of his ability and experience "to bring the United States out of its present state of chaos," thereby "to promote the general welfare of all the people."
