Men To Serve, Cook W. L. Aid's Dinner

One of the most interesting and unusual events that has taken place in the Methodist church for some time is the fact that the men of the church will cook and serve the regular Aid dinner on November 17. Charles Hutton, Charles Morgan, and Ira Carnes are in charge, and knowing these men's liking for good food, there is no doubt that the supper will be there in quantity as well as quality. The men will be known as the Singing Cooks and Waiters and will be attired in an interesting manner, which they will not let the public until the event takes place. The program is promised to be entertaining and unusual, with some extraordinary out of town talent. However they have made known the menu, which is baked Virginia ham, candied sweet potatoes, turnips, cabbage and pineapple salad, rolls, pickles and pumpkin and apple pie.

The choir enjoyed their monthly supper at the church on Tuesday evening, their class having one hundred per cent attendance. The Advance Class won the banner for attendance on Sunday. A group of people attended the meeting at Ypsilanti on Tuesday evening.

The Four Town church are sponsoring a Welfare night on November 18. Canned fruits, clothing, and various things are being donated and will be given to the needy of that community.

Sunday November 13 will be Rally Day at the Commerce church and a program is being planned.

Mrs. William H. Torrance of the First Baptist Church of Detroit will occupy the Baptist pulpit on Sunday morning. Mrs. Torrance is president of the Woman's Department of the Michigan State Convention, and is a very pleasing and forceful speaker. She will have a helpful message for those who attend the service.

The young people of the church have been given the use of the old Green school house for a club room. The rooms will be wired and furnished and the boys and girls are contemplating great fun in the "ole school house."
