U. S. GUARANTEE OF ALL BANK DEPOSITS IS ADVOCATED

Tells Teachers Government Should Take Over Institutions For Ten Year Period

Full guarantee of all deposits in both open and closed banks, with reorganization of banks under government supervision and recapture of all bank earnings for the next ten years to make up any losses that the government might suffer in guaranteeing deposits, was the program suggested as the one way out of our present difficulties, by Edgar S. Pierce of Farmington at the monthly meeting of the South Oakland Area, Oakland County Teachers' Association Monday evening. The meeting was held in Farmington High School.

The government would not have to suffer several losses in guaranteeing deposits, Mr. Pierce said, because the making available to depositors of all banks their money in cash would immediately revive buying, and industry and employment also would automatically be revived. With business improved and more money in circulation, people could pay their obligations. Values would return to something approaching normal levels and investments of banks would bring the returns they should.

Any losses that might occur here and there would be compensated by recapturing the earnings, which would all be set aside in a fund to take up whatever losses had occurred in the Government's guarantee of deposits, under the plan advocated by Mr. Pierce.

The machinery through which the 100 per cent payment of deposits would be made possible is the Federal Reserve System, Mr. Pierce said. It could easily be provided that assets of both open and closed banks could be taken to the Federal Reserve Bank in each district, and exchanged for currency to the full value. The assets would be held by the Federal Reserve Bank, and the currency paid in would be retired thus automatically reducing the supply of currency in accordance with the country's needs.

Mr. Pierce said that while this might be termed a kind of inflation it is actually only returning to the people of the country the earnings and savings which are rightfully theirs. The economists and financial authorities are agreed that a controlled and limited inflation is greatly to be desired, to bring values back to normal.

Total bank deposits in the country are about $3 billion dollars, Mr. Pierce said. Of these 15 are classified as perfectly sound even at present prices. Of the remaining $2 billion, about one-fourth to one-third are regarded as likely to cause loss, or a rough estimate of 10 billion dollars. This possible loss to the Government would be more than offset by the rise in values that would follow full guarantee of deposits and resumption of normal business.

Claims of Senator Carter Class that the guarantee of all deposits would "break the government" are without foundation, Mr. Pierce said. He pointed out that if a foreign nation should suddenly decide to attack the United States, there would be no talk of "the Government going bankrupt" providing means for defense, but the supplies and accoutrements of war would be provided at once and the money wherewith to supply them would immediately be made available.

The Government's guaranteed would not mean that it would be necessary to provide a huge supply of currency to pay out depositors, Mr. Pierce said, because the mere fact that the Government was guaranteeing all deposits would restore confidence of the public completely and there would be no runs. People would draw out only what they need for necessities of life.

'BUILT CHARACTER OR AMERICA WILL PERISH'—GULLEN

Speaker Says 700,000 Roaming Boys 'Must Be Shown They We Care

That America must act quickly to preserve itself through saving the 700,000 homeless boys and young men roaming the land or the country will face disaster, is the declaration of Rev. George E. Gulen, which stirred more than fifty men attending the luncheon of Farmington Exchange Club Wednesday noon. "Building character" was the theme of the address by Rev. Gulen which has attracted wide attention and has caught the interest of national legislators at Washington.

Fifteen years hence, said Mr. Gulen, the 700,000 wandering youths will be doing the legislating that is now done by the present generation. Yet America seems not to care about them, and it is imperative that they be shown "that America does care."

Must Build Character

The strongest vaults that have been built to hold the vast fortunes of the nation will be of no value unless there is also developed character in the coming generation, Mr. Gulen said. No Red movement in any other country need cause fear in the United States, but there is real cause for alarm when thousands of young men are abroad on the land, eating out of garbage pails and sleeping wherever they can find a place to lie down.

The speaker said one of three youths he found "fighting over a garbage can in the rear of a restaurant in Dearborn some time ago was a few days later arrested for breaking and entering. His mother and father had both given up trying to keep a home and had gone away, leaving him homeless and alone. After several arrests following each of which he was placed on probation, the youth voluntarily pleaded guilty recently and said he was glad to get a sentence of 90 days because he knew he "would have 90 nights when he would eat and 90 nights when he would have a place to sleep." He is a graduate of Fordson High School, Rev. Gulen said.

"A Place For Each"

Mr. Gulen declared that we must so arrange our industrial fabric that we may say to every graduate of high school or college, immediately after graduation, "Here we have a place ready for you." Unless we do this, he asserted, the America we have built up will perish. We face in this question, Mr. Gulen said, the greatest crisis since the Reconstruction.

From his emphasis on the need for building character, the speaker turned to what he termed the basic factor in America's ability to family. Breaking up of families, he said, has created a grave problem, with 25 per cent of all homes broken up by one cause or another. He said statistics show the following situation:

Taking the boy whose parents both continue living until he is 19, with the family remaining as a unit, as a norm of 100 per cent; the youth whose father dies at the age of 12, leaving his mother to bring him up, has a chance of 83 per cent of developing a useful and honorable career; for the boys whose mother dies when he is 12 and whose father brings up the family until the age of 19, the chance drops to 71 per cent; and for the boy who loses both parents by the time he is 12, the chances fall to 53 per cent. The break-up of homes through death, divorce, economic troubles and other causes must have the immediate serious attention of America, Mr. Gulen said.

Church Influence

The speaker concluded his address with the declaration that a third and vital factor is the influence of the church, that it is essential that fathers and mothers be afflicted with some church and bring up their children under the influence of the church. He quoted a judge of 33 years' experience in the criminal courts of Chicago as saying that he had accomplished more for the good of youth in his community through a few years of church work than in three decades on the bench; that proper training of youths cannot omit church influence because by the time they come into contact with the courts it is too late.

Eighteen Northville Exchangees and two Brighton residents attended the dinner, as well as a number of Farmington men who were guests of Exchange Club members. Rev. Gulen was introduced by his brother, Lloyd S. Gulen.

Lansing, Mich.—At the present time, 204 employees of the State Highway Department are working on a part-time basis.

The plan of staggering employment went into effect early in January when it became apparent that reduced construction funds necessitated a reduction in personnel of a part-time schedule for many employees in the engineering and construction staffs.

ANNOUNCEMENT

In presenting my name as a candidate for Justice of the Peace, to fill vacancy, I realize that in these unsettled and precarious times there is need for men of principle and unfettered minds in all phases of public life.

If elected I shall endeavor to perform the functions of the office capably and conscientiously.

There are to be two justices elected April 3rd. One for the full term of four years and one to fill the vacancy in the term expiring in April 1935, commonly called the short term. The latter is the term for which I am a candidate.

A word to your friends and neighbors in support of my candidacy will be greatly appreciated.

Sincerely yours,

W. ALLEN NELSON.

Ann Arbor—Declaring that the Philippine independence bill, passed last week over President Hoover's veto, is a selfish measure serving special interests in the country are not the islands or the United States as a whole, Professor Joseph R. Hayden, of the University of Michigan Science Department student of Philippine affairs believes that disliking the law may very possibly cause the Filipinos to fail to act on the terms offered by the bill.

COWS SUPPLY 30% OF ALL FARMERS' GAIN, REPORT SAYS

More Than Twelve Thousand Are Milked Regularly In Oakland County

The products of the dairy cow supplied over 30 per cent of the gross farm income to Michigan farmers during 1932. This statement will show how important the dairy business is to Oakland county since 12,240 cows are milked annually by farmers in this county.

Each cow individually is important to her owner for she is either a good or a poor market place or outlet for farm grown crops. Even under present conditions the cow with the ability to produce a pound of fat a day for a year returns her owner over three times as much over the cost of feed as does the average cow of this county. The average Oakland county cow produces about 200 pounds butterfat annually according to the 1930 census.

The cows by themselves are often blameless for lacking the ability to produce well according to A. C. B. Jones of the Dairy Department, Michigan State College, because the factor of inheritance largely determines the milk producing ability of each cow.

Feed alone will not change cows with poor inheritance into cows of high milk producing ability. This factor of inheritance will be discussed according to County Agent K. D. Bailey at the dairy meeting scheduled for Monday, March 20th at Lincoln Junior High School, on Summit Street North of Oakland Avenue, Pontiac, beginning at 1:00 p. m.
