Meaning of Escrow
 The word has the same derivation as "escrow" and refers to a deed bond or other written engagement delivered to a third person to be delivered by him to the grantee only upon the performance or fulfillment of some condition. A deed deposited in escrow does not pass title until the condition prescribed has been fulfilled and the conveyance has been delivered to the grantee, in accordance with the terms of the escrow.

ADVERTISED GOODS ARE DEPENDABLE—AND VALUES ARE GREATER

If you have been WAITING

TO BUY A NEW STOVE—WHY NOT CHOOSE THE RANGE THAT WILL GIVE YOU MORE?

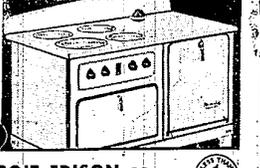

THERE are values in stoves just as there are values in cars or boats or automobiles. And if you are buying a new range, you want to select the one that will give you the most for your money. Many stoves sold today are NEW but not MODERN. They lack features that an up-to-date range should have. Here are a few of the things you should look for in a range:

OVEN HEAT CONTROL. No range is modern without complete control of oven heat. Accurate heat control simplifies baking and roasting and eliminates guesswork.

MINIMUM SHRINKAGE IN ROASTS. A stove using flaming fuel for cooking often causes as much as three-quarters of a pound weight-loss in a five-pound roast. This wasteful shrinkage is almost entirely eliminated in an electric oven. None of the roast is lost in steam, because the oven is semi-sealed.

CLEANLINESS. In furnishing stoves a certain amount of dirt and soot is unavoidable as a result of combustion. The soiling of kitchen walls and curtains, and the blackening of kitchen utensils, are a natural consequence. An electric range, however, furnishes only pure heat from a glowing wire. SEAL-IN FLAVOR. To bring out the fullest flavor in foods, it is necessary that they cook in their own juices, preserving all of their delicious natural elements. An electric range SEALS-IN nourishing and healthful juices in roasts, and cooks meats and vegetables to melting tenderness with the addition of very little water.

Only an electric stove has all the modern features. You can own a new Wadford-Electrochef electric range for $89.50 installed and ready to cook.
