

U.S. Helps State Buy Maybury

A $1.5 million federal grant for a state park site in Northville Township was announced by U.S. Rep. Marvin Esch (R-Ann Arbor).

The grant will come from a discretionary fund administered by Secretary of the Interior Rogers Morton.

It will cover half the $3 million purchase price of the former Maybury Tuberculosis Sanatorium owned by the City of Detroit.

The State of Michigan has reserved the other half of the price.

ESCH SAID HE had been called into the case during the last 10 days to cut red tape.

The 865-acre Maybury site is located between Seven and Eight Mile roads west of the City of Northville. Detroit acquired the rolling hills in the early 1920s and ceased using the buildings for TB patients several years ago.

Wayne County is the only one of Michigan's 83 without a state park. When one is established, it would lack a lake and be unusual in that respect.

There is a possibility, however, that its hills could be ski runs and that some of its marshy areas could be converted into lakes or ponds.

The buildings are so badly deteriorated that they are considered practically useless.

Negotiations between that state and Detroit have been going on for about 18 months. Champions of the project have been State Sen. Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth) and State Rep. Marvin Stempien (D-Livonia), whose districts, along with Esch's, cover Northville Township.

WCCC Offers 'Better Chance'

A husky, 30-year-old veteran with one leg gone sits talking softly about cars, cold weather and something very vital — his education.

He has been in and out of a number of colleges over the past few years, but was comfortable at only one. That was Wayne County Community College (WCCC).

"I think I have a better chance here," he says. "I like the absence of pressure."

ANOTHER THING the veteran likes is the emphasis on opportunity. WCCC's "open door" admits anyone over 19 and any high school graduate under 19. And students who fail a course can repeat it until they pass without having the failure recorded.

It's especially important that students of WCCC don't fail.

The typical WCCC student is already 27 years old when he arrives at the school. has probably experienced some failures elsewhere and can't afford another one.

WCCC offers him another chance to try at low cost and right in his own community.

The school has an academic program which prepares students to enter a four-year college; vocational and technical courses which give career training, and special interest courses which allow students to explore various subjects and increase their general knowledge.

IN THE FUTURE, WCCC will offer even more career programs as it begins to establish "core centers" where special equipment for industrial training can be stored.

And unlike other colleges which require students to come to central campuses, WCCC has centers wherever its students are. All of Wayne

College Reps Will Meet OR Students

Representatives of three colleges will be on the Orchard Ridge Campus of Oakland Community College in Farmington to talk to those students interested in transferring.

Duncan Sargent of Michigan State University will be on campus from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 30.

Dave Robinson will represent the Dearborn campus of the University of Michigan on Dec. 6 from 9:30 a.m. until 3 p.m., a Mary Phillips of Siena Heights College in Adrian will be on campus from 1 to 2 p.m. on Dec. 7.

County is the WCCC campus. The school owns no buildings, but uses other facilities during times when they are unoccupied. WCCC offers classes in cities, suburbs and farm areas; in church basements, schools, YMCAs.

The college's new president, Dr. Reginald Wilson, sees this as one of the strengths of the college.

"It is possible for students to literally attend school around the corner," Dr. Wilson says. And they are doing it in growing numbers. Some 14,000 students are currently enrolled, and an increased enrollment is expected this winter. Early registration for the winter quarter begins Dec. 13.

Many of the students will be veterans, but there will also be policemen, housewives, workers, professionals. They will be white and black, Chicano and Appalachian, Grosse Pointe and Detroit. As Dr. Wilson sees it: "This school represents the last hope for thousands of our youth for developing their potential... the college is unique in that it is truly bringing educational opportunity to the students."

Tickets Taken In Hines Park

A Plymouth high school girl is seeking 30 tickets to her school's senior class play which were stolen from her purse.

The tickets are for Plymouth High School's "Fiddler On The Roof" which will be presented Dec. 2, 3 and 4.

Janet Griggs, 365 Joy St., Plymouth, had the tickets, plus credit cards and other belongings, taken from her purse in Edward Hines Park.

The tickets, worth $2 each, are numbers 240-249 (yellow), 360-369 (orange) and 349-358 (green).

Mrs. Florence Griggs said her daughter is liable for the tickets unless they are returned.

Adopt Slogan

"Green Survival... It Depends on You" is the slogan of a national campaign being waged by the American Association of Nurserymen and its allied groups to focus attention on the extremely important role that plant life plays in maintaining a healthful and livable environment. The major thrust of the campaign is to provide information and guidance to individuals on the ways to contribute to cleaning up and maintaining our environment.
