

Sitarist Will Give Concert At Schoolcraft

Indian sitarist Debu Chaudhuri will present a program of Indian music at 8 p.m., Wednesday, Dec. 1, in the Waterman Campus Center of Schoolcraft College, 186100 Haggerty, Livonia. He is a teacher of music at Delhi University.

He will be joined in concert by his wife, Manjures, playing a tamboura, and Sitaram Sharma, who plays the Indian mrum.

Tickets will be on sale at the door at $1 for Schoolcraft faculty and students and $2 for the general public. The concert is sponsored by the college's cultural and public affairs committee.

Mercy High Students Plan 1935 Comedy

The delightful Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman comedy "You Can't Take It With You" will be presented at Our Lady of Mercy High School, 11 Mile and Middle Belt, Farmington, at 8:15 p.m., Friday and Saturday, Dec. 3 and 4.

Tickets will be on sale at the door at $1.50.

The play revolves around the delightfully eccentric Sycamore family, who live in New York City. Action takes place about 1935.

Observant students in the play include Ann Sullivan, Yvonne Baginski, Patricia Wernette, Ann Ermatinger, Daniel King, James McElroy and James Ehner, all of Farmington; Tom Wichert and Greg Taylor of Livonia; Alice Masson of Plymouth; and Maureen Bailey and Michelle Locke of Southfield.

Young Adults Meet Dec. 5

A coffee house for young adults will be open from 7:30 to 11 p.m., Sunday, Dec. 5, in St. Mel's Catholic church hall, Warren and Inkster Roads, Dearborn Heights.

Singles between the ages of 18 to 35 are invited to attend. Folk entertainment will be featured. There will be an admission charge of $1.50.

4-Man Art Show Is Youthful, Contemporary

Drawing on area talent, the Plymouth House Galleries on Main Street, Plymouth, are now featuring a four-man show, with the accent on the youthful and contemporary.

The artists are Michael Patrick Neal of Plymouth, Gary Dean Boyll, a Livonia teacher, Robert Stern of Northville, and James V. Griffin, who comes from Kitchener, Ont.

NEAL IS THE youngest of the group and specializes in graphic prints and textured paintings. His print titled "After Warhol" will be donated to Plymouth's Youth Inc. after the show, both to brighten up the offices of that group and because he wants to "communicate with young people."

The print was made by repeating a face on a small, square, linoleum block 16 times, with one face in red standing out from the crowd. Characteristic of his paintings is the unusual "five Red Fish," on canvas, with heavy layers of color and burlap.

Neal has his studio in Plymouth because he finds it a good place to work.

STERN ALSO displays paintings and lithographs in the show. His large canvasses are characterized by the use of bright and bold colors, red, yellow and blue.

Boyll is a sculptor who works with bronze casting, fiberglass and carving. His works have clean lines and are not jarring.

He has had works in five juried shows and was winner of an honorable mention in a show at the Scarab Club of Detroit.

This is the first time Griffin has displayed his graphics in the U.S., but he has sold his work in New York City and London. His works are somewhat reminiscent of the Canadian Group of Seven.

'Nutcracker' Ballet Set For Plymouth

Plans are well under way for the Severo Ballet Company's performance of Tchaikovsky's "Nutcracker" ballet in Observerland at 8 p.m., Saturday, Dec. 11.

The popular holiday ballet will be staged in Plymouth High School, Joy and Canton Center Roads, with accompaniment by the Plymouth Symphony under the direction of Wayne Dunlap.

Tickets are now on sale at Melody House, Penniman Avenue, Plymouth, and from Mrs. Ann Kraskel, 499 Leicester Road, Plymouth. They are $2 for adults and $1 for children.

Livonia Teacher To Tour With YFU

A Livonia high school teacher, Don Pratt, and his wife have been chosen as travel coordinators and counselors for a trip to southern Europe next summer.

Pratt, who teaches at Churchill High School, will accompany 57 members of the Youth for Understanding Choral from the Michigan-Ontario area.

Several area teenagers have also been accepted as choral members. They are Carol Dithazy and Nancy Green of Farmington; Renee Papelian and Robert Ferris of Southfield; and Susan Dexter of Livonia.

The students are rehearsing every Saturday, and will perform several Michigan concerts before their departure in June.

For the second year, the choral and string ensemble will tour together, performing both jointly and separately.

Choral members will live with host families in the countries they visit. Local YFU committees in overseas countries make arrangements for performances and accommodations.

Robert Pratt, chairman of the music department of Ann Arbor Pioneer High School, will conduct the choral on its 15th tour abroad.

Christmas Antiques To Be Sold Dec. 1-5

Shoppers at the Detroit Christmas antique show, in the Light Guard Armory, Dec. 1 through 5, will find the world is their marketplace in the show's 150 exhibits.

Leading antiques dealers from 86 cities in 21 states will fill two floors of the armory on East Eight Mile Rd. with antiques and collectibles gathered from the four corners of the world.

Several exhibitors have just returned from overseas buying trips.

COLLECTORS WHO long for glamor-shrouded props from famous movies or souvenir antiques from America's great mansions, such as the late Anna Thompson Dodge's Rose Terrace, will have a chance to purchase some of these coveted treasures.

In keeping with the show's theme of "Give an antique for Christmas," all exhibits will contain antiques and collector's items suitable for Christmas giving. Every taste and every budget will be covered in their wide variety.

A CLOCKMAN, Emil Patten, will service repairable old clocks and music boxes brought in by show visitors. For a reasonable charge he will inspect the faulty mechanisms and give an estimate. Minor repairs will be done on the spot, during the show.

Free parking is available on the grounds. Hours are from 1 to 11 p.m. the first four days, and from 1 to 9 p.m. on the final day, Sunday, Dec. 5.

Oakland Company Will Go On Tour

The Charleston, the talkies, Lindbergh's solo flight to Paris, the Wall Street crash and Aimee Semple McPherson will all be featured in the next offering of Oakland University's Studio Company.

A performance is scheduled for Dec. 7 in Southfield's Lathrup High School.

To be presented on tour in December and in the company's Studio Theatre in January, the original production is entitled "All That Jazz." It offers a nostalgic look at the Roaring Twenties.

Written by Paul Lee, a charter member of the academy's teaching staff, it is a British TV writer's concept of the social, moral and economic conditions during the exciting prohibition era in America. Songs and dances, typical of the decade, are interspersed with "eyewitness" accounts of various events.

Besides being a television writer, Lee was a theatre director in England and a senior tutor and director at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art in London. He was also a lecturer on scripting at ... nobody listens?

IF NOBODY LISTENS, WHO ARE THOSE PEOPLE WHO KEEP CALLING US? WE'RE PRETTY WELL CONVINCED THAT THEY'RE LISTENERS, BECAUSE THEY REQUEST SONGS, WIN CONTESTS, ANSWER QUESTIONS, SOME OF THEM CALL TO COMPLAIN. WE'LL ADMIT THAT, BUT A LOT OF THEM CALL JUST TO TELL US THEY LOVE US. SO IF NOBODY LISTENS... WHO ARE THOSE PEOPLE?

The Gourmet Adventures of DICK BENSEK

Italians prefer meat without juice. The juice, il sugo del umido, may be served with the meat, but in a separate bowl. Otherwise, it is kept in the kitchen to be used in various meat sauces. To make a good umido sauce the Romans use a roast beef cut highly seasoned: salt, pepper, marjoram, and crushed garlic. Sage, basil, chopped onion, parsley, and bacon are then placed with the meat, which is browned, and covered with wine. When the wine is absorbed, then comes tomato paste, about 2 tablespoons. Add a little water, simmer for two and one half hours, replenishing water as needed. There it is. Umido. A meat with a distinctive flavor, plus il sugo, a sauce of succulent juices to save for other days.

Distinctive meals are an everyday occurrence at DANISH INN, 32305 Grand River Ave., 478-6320. We feature a number of Danish dishes, including Frikadeller, Biff, Lindstrom, Danish Lobster Tails, Danish Potato Pancakes and Dansk Hakke Bof. On Tuesday thru Saturday Evenings from 8:30 p.m. to closing we feature the memorable jazz, boogie and classical music of Pat Flowers.

HELPFUL HINT: Fresh parsley can be frozen! Freeze it fresh; then grate it still frozen as needed. Really preserves the fresh look and taste!
