FARMINGTON SCOUT NEWS

At last week's meeting Dick Tobin, one of the Junior Scouts, had charge of the meeting. The meeting was opened by Dick, after which followed instruction in Tenderfoot and Second Class Signaling. These instructions lasted until about 8:00 o'clock at which time a signaling contest was put on by Dick Tobin.

Following this were a few games which lasted for about 15 minutes. Next, each boy in the troop was called on to tell what he liked best about the overnight hike last Saturday and Sunday. It was decided that another overnight hike will be held. The meeting was closed with Scout Benediction, Taps and the Scout Vesper Hymn.

Bermuda Discovered Early

From a Spanish map dated 1510, there is abundant proof that Bermuda was discovered prior to that year, according to the educational department of the American Express company, which points out that Juan de Bermudez was given credit for discovering Bermuda in 1515. The islands took their name from him.

Going Abroad in Michigan

If you had unlimited choice in picking a site for your vacation, if you were allowed to choose among the world's finest playgrounds, you could not find anywhere a greater variety, or sites more favored by Nature, than among those that Michigan offers.

Within the borders of your native State are fishing streams that represent the angler's paradise; unexcelled highways for motor touring; the finest of golf courses; camping sites to suit any preference; five thousand lakes which range in size from a swimming pool to a sparkling inland sea.

Michigan, in short, offers nearly all those beauties and advantages for which, year after year, many people will travel to foreign lands.

To enjoy what Michigan offers, you can, if you wish, travel on luxurious lake liners. But for these liners you need not bother with passports or visas! You can ride comfortably, speedily, safely, to your Michigan destination on up-to-the-minute trains, busses and planes.

Spend your own vacation in Michigan. Let your out-of-State friends know what splendid facilities await them here. By doing so, you will assist them toward a happier holiday. In addition, you will help to promote the popularity and prosperity of your native State.

It is for the purpose of doing our share in this promotion that this series of advertisements is being published by the Michigan Bell Telephone Company, a Michigan organization that prospers only as the citizens of Michigan prosper.

Chippendale Furniture

We constantly are hearing about Chippendale furniture. Our derivatives from the work of this great English cabinet maker are among the most popular in modern furniture stores, but they really bear little resemblance to the documented work of Thomas Chippendale, according to "The Chippendale story" by George S. Hill. This is not the original creation of any one man but the product of a school, according to a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer. It was from the French and from a revival of interest in Chinese and Gothic motives that the Chippendale school drew inspiration. It was more a school of ornament than it was a school of style. Chippendale's name has become generic for all furniture produced in England and America between 1750 and 1780. This includes the pre-Chippendale period.

The First Waits

Waits did not come into existence in a haphazard manner. In ancient times they had a definite function to perform, and they were all stalwart minstrels attached to the court of the king. Their duties consisted of tramping the streets all night, keeping law and order, and proclaiming the time at certain intervals. Later they developed into wind-instrument players and until one hundred years ago had an official standing in London. It was the custom for waiters to engage waits to serenade their lady-loves at night, on payment of a fee, but eventually they complained of loss of sleep and the practice was abolished. At one time the custom was so established that there was always music in one street or another from 1 to 4 a. m.—Tit-Bits Magazine.

Glossary of Dog Terms

American dogs—Boston terrier and Chesapeake Bay retriever. Apple-headed—Round instead of fat skull. Babber—A noisy hunting dog. Backtracking—Running the trail backward. Barred—Not allowed to show at a bench show or sale trial. Booby—Heavy hindquarters. Delious—Spotted setters of the Laverack strain. Blaze—A white line from the nose up the face. Blue (the)—First prize in the class (not necessarily in the breed). Breeder—Owner or lessor of the dam at time of service.

Below Sea Level

The Sea of Galilee, a body of fresh water thirteen miles long by seven miles wide, is 700 feet below the level of the sea. The Jordan carries its overflow to the Dead Sea, a body of salt water 1,200 feet below sea level, and from which there is no overflow. The distance between the two seas is about 200 miles.

In exploration days, ten or twelve names were given to the great Mississippi River by different men who saw different parts of it.
