UNCLE SAM'S old mint in San Francisco, at Fifth and Mission streets, is out of date, so a new one will be erected on the block pictured here, now occupied by a rock promontory. The site is at the intersection of Duboce and Buchanan streets at Market street, the other sides being bounded by Hermann and Webster streets.

Rangers of the United States forest service have been fitted out with new uniforms as shown above. It is of very tough material known as bronze green leather. The coat is of loose-cut, single breasted style with leather buttons.

Actually painting your lips doesn't mean that they will have a painted look. Quite the contrary. If you use two or three shades of lipstick you will get a more natural effect than if you used one color. Thin lips should be darkened at the corners and have a lighter color lipstick toward the middle to make them look full.
