FEWER DRIVERS MISLAY LICENSES LAST YEAR

There are two ways to lose operators' licenses in Michigan—just as there are in all other states having operators' license laws. One is to have your license revoked or suspended by order of a court or other competent authority, but the commonest method is merely to mislay it.

With the current public attention on safety, revocation and suspension of licenses are on the increase in Michigan, but it is worthy of noting that the percentage of licensed drivers who lose their licenses by pure absentmindedness or accident, is getting smaller all the time.

During the first ten months of 1934, when a total of 443,223 applications of operators' licenses were granted, 12,455 persons who had lost their licenses, applied for duplicates to replace their losses. It meant that for every 1,000 new applications, 30 applications for duplicates were received. In the first 10 months of 1935, when au-cessful applications for licenses jumped to 605,747, an increase of nearly 37 per cent, the number of licenses issued was only 15,036, which meant that for every 1,000 new licenses, applications for only 34 duplicates were being received. License applications jumped nearly 37 per cent; applications for duplicate licenses increased only about 50 per cent.

The percentage of chauffeurs (including all drivers of commercial motor vehicles) who "mislay" their licenses, is negligible.

Men Evacuate Fisher Lodge—Get Jobs

Fisher lodge, largest shelter in the world, has been evacuated as a result of work provided by the WPA.

The lodge was maintained for four years in Detroit, in a factory building donated by the Fisher Body Corporation. It had a capacity of 1,000 men and was usually filled. Eighteen hundred former inmates have now gone to work on WPA projects. The rest of the men, ineligible for WPA jobs for one reason or another, have been removed to a smaller shelter.

"The WPA has been a Godsend to homeless men," declared T. K. Forney, director of Fisher lodge, who is also in charge of the new shelter. "We have supplied 1,800 men for WPA projects, most of whom had been out of work for months and even years. They are making every effort to reestablish themselves as useful members of society."

Asked if the men showed any tendency to shirk work when it was offered, Forney was emphatic in his denial.

"They want work," he said, "and clamor for WPA jobs. Out of the 1,800 thus far placed, only two attempted to stall."

All kinds of people came to the Fisher lodge, according to E. P. Tappan, case supervisor. Most of the men, of course, were laborers, but there was a generous sprinkling of professional workers—including lawyers, artists, newspaper men and a doctor. Most of them have now gone back to work, a few in private industry, the rest on WPA projects.

STATE PARKS AWAIT WPA APPROVAL

Nearly a million dollars will go into the improvement and development of Michigan's state parks during the ensuing year if the Works Progress Administration approves plans of state parks authorities.

A project outline that would require an expenditure of more than $800,000 in labor and materials has been submitted to the WPA officials by the Parks Division, Department of Conservation.

This outline contains plans and specifications for new bathhouses at Holland, Muskegon, Grand Haven, Monroe and William Mitchell state parks. In addition to bathhouses, these parks would get other improvements consisting of complete new sanitary facilities, grading, paving construction of parking areas, camp sites and picnic grounds.

Extensive development work consisting of sanitary facilities, grading, paving, construction of parking areas, camp sites and picnic grounds would be conducted in Huron state park near the tip of Huron peninsula and in the Kenmore area, of William Mitchell State Park.

As yet only one of the requested projects has been approved. It calls for new grading and paving in Holland state park.

EIGHT MILLION VISIT STATE PARKS IN 1935

Nearly eight million persons visited Michigan's 52 state parks during 1934.

While this is a large figure—being approximately twice the total population of the state—it represents a drop under the state park attendance records for the previous two years.

This drop in attendance is believed by W. J. Kingscott, superintendent of Michigan's state parks to be due to the prolonged cold weather of late spring and other factors which abated the tourist season to approximately eight weeks as far as the state parks are concerned.

The compilation of park attendance reports during the past season shows a total attendance of 7,937,675 visitors, a 6.86 percent decrease for 1934, the record shows, was 8,551,916.

"From Memorial day, at which time the 52 state parks were opened, until almost the first of July, there were very few visitors and campers in the state parks," said Mr. Kingscott. "Indeed, this condition was caused by the unfavorable weather which prevailed during nearly all of June and was the means of discouraging many tourists from coming north for their vacations until well into July."

"The parks also took another setback in the potential attendance when, due to administrative requirements, they were closed last September from 10 to 15 days earlier than usual."

Grand Haven state park, however, continued to lead all other state parks in total attendance with Bay City continuing second.

Holland state park jumped from fifth place to third place, displacing Walter J. Hayes park at Jackson, Lenawee and Washtenaw counties.

Homemaker Corner

Home Economics Specialists Michigan State College

Although the program for Farmers' Week at Michigan State College, February 3 to 7, is set up under a number of divisions, with one expected to be especially interesting to home makers, those in charge of the meetings expect nearly as many women in certain of the agricultural sections as in those sponsored by home makers.

Among the discussions expected to be especially interesting to farm women are those on bees and honey production, poultry and its care, meat cutting, curing, and canning, various phases of dairy production, fruit and vegetable canning, flower culture, and horticulture.

In addition the programs of music, those of the Country Life association and the Master Farm Home Makers' association will, no doubt, attract many of the farm women. The Home Economics division is expecting a full attendance at the meetings devoted to lighting, nutrition, home crafts, table decorations and table service.

The discussions of the present situation and conditions in Ethiopia are expected to hold the attention of the feminine visitors. Miss Bees M. Rowe of the Farmers' Wife will be a welcome speaker, as well, also, as Dr. Mary S. Rose, Columbia University.

The Eyes of Fish

The eyes of fish are like our own in structure and vision, but with adaptive modifications. Eyeballs are absent, so that the eye remains always uncovered. The eyeball has little power of movement; the cornea is flatter and the lens more globular than in the eyes of mammals; and it appears that fish are comparatively near-sighted. While in most species the eyes are very large as compared with those of higher animals, a few have small orbits, or none at all that are visible, and live in darkness as parasites, or in the abysses of the ocean.

Money Issuing Power

There is no limit on the money issuing power of a government. Written constitutions in every case vest the legislative authority with full power to issue money and regulate its value. In most cases governments then delegate the money issuing power to central banks or ordinary commercial banks, but restrict their note issuing power by requiring certain metallic reserves.
