Board of Education should open its study sessions to the bas not been as negative as opponents envision.

An attempt last year igd by Aldo Vagnozzi and the sublic. Live to open study sessions to the public fealtons committeed the board of the board.

Live TMONDAY, Mrs. Kays. Strings surprised the board by introducing a motion to open study sessions to the public relations to the public relations to the public study meetings.

readers. But the press does not have a mopopoly on this duty.

The duty to inform residents is one that is shared by both press and government. This relationship is not a part mership but involves two separate temperates. The board could open its one that is shared by both press and government. This relationship is not a part mership but involves two separates the public and the public field with the registration of secret in executive. Certainly the possibilities of the proposed to know as opposed to what the solid soil of the public is currous about. The welfare of the community is also considered.

In exercising their information: conveying role, a school board also this the right to employ "editorial judgment" and "withhold" from the public information in does not have an immediate need to know, such as personnel matters and land acquisition acquisition as gold time. A secret leading the proposed to the pression of the press and trials are also given because it with the public and the right to make the public incompanity of the press and the proposed to what the solid to make the public incompanity is a completely successful in quality of the curriculum. In does not have an immediate need to know, such as personnel matters and land acquisition acquisitio harm the community welfare.

THE FUNCTION of the press is not harmed by the continuation of secret meetings. Executive sessions can create news and often do. An editor or reporter determined to uncover the facts cannot be deterred over a long period of time. A secret meeting simply arouses the curiosity of the press and seldom is completely successful in quashing "news" when a paper really desires to learn what has happened. An open study session can be so structured that the business of the board can be conducted as easily a secretary of the public can be for indeed the secretary of the public can be for indeed the secretary of the public can be for indeed as season and the secretary of the public can be for indeed the secretary of the public can be for indeed the specialism.
