

Three Senators Back Income Tax Increase

By KATHY MORAN
Three of Observerland's four senators voted for a one per cent increase in the state income tax levy effective Aug.
1 last week.

3.6 per cent for at least a year, was favored by Sens. William Faust (D-Westland), Carl Pursel (R-Plymouth), and Daniel Cooper (D-Oak Park).
Sen. David Plawecki (D-Dearborn-Heights) voted against it primarily because "I didn't know what the money was going for."

The Senate was deadlocked on the increase until the Democrats held a caucus.
After getting Gov. Milliken to sign an admission that the increase was necessary, the Democrats delivered the votes needed for passage. The final vote was 22-15.

Plawecki said the discussion in the caucus centered around the "lack of leadership on the part of Gov. Milliken." He said Democrats were disenchanted because Milliken had said there would not be a need for an increase in income taxes to the public but representatives from his office were urging an increase behind the scenes.

"We wanted him to make a public stand on it," Plawecki said.

He said his biggest objection to the increase is that the senators were asked to vote on the basis of general figures with no breakdown on where the money would go.

An amendment to the bill would drop the increase on Aug. 1, 1972 if the Legislature hasn't asked the voters questions on the graduated income tax and the lowering of property taxes used for school operations.

The bill is expected to pass in the House with a 1.1 per cent hike, bringing the tax levied from the current 2.6 to 3.7 per cent. If this increase is approved it will be sent to a joint conference committee to iron out differences.

Paneled Doors Add Elegance

Solid wood doors help establish a cordial atmosphere at a home's entrance, and new carved panel patterns, gaining in popularity, are especially elegant.

A variety of entrance doors, with window panels, and interior doors manufactured of kiln-dried Douglas fir or western hemlock, impart a solid, well-established feeling to a new or existing home.

For areas frequently closed off, such as laundry or sewing room, bifold louvered doors combine quick access with durability.
