Great Lakes Exposition Opens Saturday, June 27

WITH hands playing, thousands of gay-colored pennants whipping in the lake breeze, and with massive exhibit structures shimmering in the sunlight, countless numbers of eager spectators will pass through the towering pylons-entrances of the Great Lakes Exposition when that gigantic 150-acre fair opens its doors on Cleveland's lakefront next Saturday.

This shows the decorative Main Entrance of the Great Lakes Exposition at Cleveland, which will open on June 27 for 100 days.

At night, the huge Exposition will be a gorgeous fantasy of illumination. These lights will be turned on by the "man in the moon" as the rays of the moon flash on the "eye" of a powerful telescope, an impact of light will strike a photo-electric cell, which in turn transmits the impulse to switches controlling the lights.

For visitors to the Great Lakes Exposition there is a vast variety of free entertainment. From the huge orchestral shell, directly north of the fair's main entrance on St. Clair avenue, will come the melodious strains of concert music played by the Great Lakes Symphonic orchestra of 100 pieces.

Further eastward and terminating the colorful Exposition Mid-way are the Streets of the World, a complete international settlement of thirty-six separate villages housing more than 165 buildings.

ALERT OPERATOR AVERTS SERIOUS FIRE
 Alertness on the part of Mrs. Vita Lackey, telephone operator at Vinyettes, Ind., prevented a serious fire in the J. C. Penney store there. On duty at 3:30 A. M., she noticed a signal lamp flicker feebly on a switchboard in front of her. Answering the signal, she could get no response, and since it came from the telephone in a store, she notified the police immediately. They found the store interior on fire, but because of the promptness of the operator, the firemen were able to save most of the stock in adjoining store-rooms from severe damage. Letters to the Editor MUST BE SIGNED.

ADVERTISEMENTS
Are Your Guides To Value

Experts can roughly estimate the value of a product by looking at it. More accurately, by handling and examining it. Its appearance, its texture, the "feel" and the balance of it, all mean something to their trained eyes and fingers.

But no one person can be an expert on steel, brass, wood, leather, foodstuffs, fabrics, and all of the material that makes up a list of personal purchases. And even experts are fooled, sometimes, by concealed flaws and imperfections.

There is a surer index of value than the senses of sight and touch... knowledge of the maker's name and for what it stands. Here is the most certain method, except that of actual use, for judging the value of any manufactured goods. Here is the only guarantee against carelessly workmanship, or use of shoddy material.

This is one important reason why it pays to read advertisements and to buy advertised goods. The advertised product is worthy of your confidence.

Merchandise must be good or it couldn't be consistently advertised.
