

Crowds Pour Into Exposition Grounds

Every day is a busy day at the Great Lakes Exposition in Cleveland and this picture shows the crowds pouring across the Court of Presidents into the compact grounds of the Exposition. The grounds cover 140 acres lying along the cool shores of Lake Erie. Overhead are two of the blimps which take passengers for trips over the grounds and the city.

WHO ARE YOU?

The Romance of Your Name

By RUBY HASKINS ELLIS

A MacIntosh?

THIS name is, of course, of Scotch origin. Some authorities give the meaning as "son of the leader."

The Clan MacIntosh is a branch of the Clan Chattan, which includes the Macphersons and about a dozen other families. Their home in Scotland is in the Lochaber and Banoch districts of Inverness-shire. The strength of the clan in the field is about 1,000 men.

Moy Hall, one of the most beautiful castles in Scotland, is the seat of this family or of the Clan Chattan, and is situated on the south end of Loch Moy. This splendid old structure has been the home of the chieftains of this clan for more than 500 years.

The war cry of the Clan Chattan is "Loch Moladhaidh." Their badge is "Red Whortle," and their chieftain is called simply "The MacIntosh," which as above explained means "the leader."

The first of this ancient family to settle in America was John MacIntosh, who located in Dedham, Mass., before 1639. There are many descendants of John now in many parts of the country.

It is interesting to note that the MacIntoshes were among the recruits from the Scottish Highlands to come to the assistance of the state of Georgia when strengthening the colony in 1733. An appeal was made to the sturdy Scotch to come over and settle and assist in the work of colonization. One of the first settlers to come to the state of Georgia was John MacIntosh, who located in Dedham, Mass., before 1639. There are many descendants of John now in many parts of the country.

Also, valuable service was rendered to this country by these men in the Revolution, the war between the states and other national conflicts.

Among the early settlers were John Moore MacIntosh, Col. John MacIntosh and Gen. Lachlan MacIntosh. Each played heroic parts in the early life of our country and wrote the name of MacIntosh into the annals of our history with some indelible impression of honor and integrity that has ever been its characteristic in Bonnie Scotland.

The MacIntosh plaid is in colors of red, black and yellow.

Crossing the Rubicon
The Rubicon is a very small, insignificant stream. In Roman times, it formed the boundary between the province of Gaul—modern France—of which Julius Caesar was governor, and his native Italy, of which imperial Rome was the center, says London Answers Magazine. Caesar, greatly daring, resolved to cross the Rubicon with his legions, to seize power in Rome, knowing full well that, by that act, he laid himself open to a charge of treason. He had probably been thinking of this for some time, weighing in his mind all its risks against its ultimate possible success. Now he took the step which nothing could undo. He crossed the Rubicon. He committed himself irrevocably to his greatest adventure.
