A pioneer is a fellow who can remember back when the keeper of the village inn announced the dinner hour by ringing a dinner bell on the front porch.

WHO ARE YOU?

The Romance of Your Name

By RUBY HASKINS ELLIS

A Seymour?

THIS name was originally taken from a Norman knight, who lived in the Thirteenth century. Sir William St. Maur and the House of Seymour in America descends through the grandson of this ancestor, Roger de St. Maur, who was lord of Penlow and Woundy, in England.

John Seymour of Wolf Hall in Wiltshire, sheriff of the county in the reign of Henry VII, married the daughter of Sir Henry Darell of Littlecot, County Wiltshire. It was their eldest son who was knighted by King Henry on the field of battle for gallant conduct as one of the commanders of the King's forces against the Cornish rebels at Blackheath. Later on, for his unusual prowess at the famous "Battle of the Spurs," he was made a Knight Banneret by King Henry VIII. He attended the king at the "Field of the Cloth of Gold," where the meeting of Henry and Francis I took place, an incident so famous in English history. He also attended the king at Canterbury, when Emperor Charles V was received in England.

John Seymour married Margaret Wentworth, daughter of Sir Henry Wentworth, who claimed descent from a great name in medieval dynasties of Europe. Their son, Edward, became a powerful noble and Lord Protector of England. His rise to fame was meteoric; knights in 1525, created Viscount Beauchamp, governor and captain of the Isle of Jersey; chancellor and chamberlain of North Wales; in 1531 created earl of Hertford and later, Knight of the Garter.

His great-grandson, Richard Seymour, came to America, settled in Hartford, Conn., where he immediately became active in the affairs of the colonies. He was a founder of Norfolk, Conn.

Most of the Seymours in this country can trace to this Richard and thus back to the English family. © Public Ledger, Inc.—WNU Service.

Hypnotism Long in Use for Medical Treatment

Psychologists in universities, while investigating the mechanisms of the human mind, often employ hypnotism to bring to the surface its hidden workings, while physicians have legitimately used it many times in making cures of certain kinds of cases—such as drug addiction or alcoholism.

Hypnotism is not a mysterious force flashed over hundreds of miles by the power of some dark hypnotic eye, writes Prof. A. H. Estabrook in the Scientific American. A hypnotized person is much like one who walks in his sleep. If you can find such a person and start a conversation without waking him, you are in touch with the sub-conscious mind of one who is already hypnotized. The unconscious mind is in control of the body. In the hypnotic trance, however, the unconscious is also in touch with an operator. This accounts for the curious results obtained, for the unconscious is very open to suggestion and has a remarkable power over the entire body.

India Has 17 Calendars

Each of India's 17 calendars are different and are used in the different Indian states. Assamese, Bengali, Bikhrami or Punjabi, Burmese, Gregorian used officially over all India, Gujarati (in the Bombay district), Hindoo (all parts of India), Jewish (by the Jews), Kanabese, Maharashtra, Malayali, Marvati (or Marwar states and by India's merchants), Mohammedan (all parts of India), Oriya, Parsee (scattered in most parts), Tamil (South, and all Ceylon) and Telugu (north of Madras).

Norwegian Pagan Festival

Originally a Norwegian pagan festival in honor of the sun, St. Hans eve is celebrated throughout the country with bonfires, dancing and merry-making the whole night through. In Oslo, the entire population, it seems, either boats out to islands in the fjord or goes out onto the tops of near-by mountains for the celebration. Bonfires are lighted on every hill, and at the outdoor museums here and at Lillehammer, great demonstrations of folk dancing are given.

Once Fashion to Carry One's Knives and Forks

The fine craftsmanship, the wealth of detail in ornament and the wide variety of material employed in the handles (hufes) of antique knives and forks is attributable to the fact that these were personal possessions and much prized ones. Italian influence in England was supposed to be responsible for the introduction of the fork, which was rarely used there, even in the highest circles, until well along towards the middle of the seventeenth century. A guest would bring his own set, knife, fork and spoon, to a dinner, even as late as the close of the century.

Knives, spoons and forks of these sets an absolute necessity, and they were kept in a case in a pocket. In order to make carrying easier, they were very frequently of the folding type. Sometimes only knife and fork made up the set, each with one side shaped and one side flat; called "twins". Fine polished brass, sometimes enriched with enamel, or ivory, amber, porcelain, pottery, rare wood, tortoiseshell, mother-of-pearl, silver or gold, are among the materials which formed the handles; of this early cutlery. The blades were sometimes elaborately engraved with mottoes, coats of arms, figures of saints and other ornamentation. Iron, damascened in gold and silver, was used for the handle of some early German sets; and from the same country came a set now in a museum with twisted gilded silver handles.—New York Sun.
