Grunas Ends Congressmen Aid Army Basic Auto Companies

LIVONIA

Army Pvt. Vincent C. Grunas, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent J. Grunas, 31060 Westfield, Livonia, recently completed eight weeks of basic training at the U.S. Army Training Center, Fort Knox, Ky.

He received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, combat tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first and Army history and traditions.

Observerland's three republican Congressmen were among the numerous co-signers of a bill that would grant a temporary exemption of the antitrust laws in order to speed up research on anti-pollution devices for automobiles.

He received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, combat tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first and Army history and traditions.

Auto manufacturers are now working independently in an attempt to meet federal auto engine clean air standards set for 1975-76 by the 1970 Clean Air Act amendments.

"Safety and pollution control must be the prime consideration in the development of this product," McDonald said.

"And to that end we must temporarily eradicate the costly duplication of effort by auto companies."

"As long as the auto companies are forced to work independent of each other, it seems highly unlikely that they will be able to meet these federal standards."

Loans Aid Marygrove Students

More than two-thirds of the students at Marygrove College in Detroit received financial aid for their education in 1970-71 according to the college's president, Dr. Arthur Brown.

Encouraging students and prospective students to investigate the scholarships and loans available, Dr. Brown said that Marygrove students received financial aid totaling nearly $616,000 in the last school year.

"It is a pity that, instead of realizing what a bargain education is today, so many students are impressed with what they believe to be the high cost that they do not even apply for admission," Dr. Brown said.

"Or else they apply to less expensive colleges due to personal financial considerations without investigating the possibilities of financial aid," he added.

Marygrove alone will offer $134,000 in scholarships and grants in the coming year. State grants are available to students attending private colleges and state and federal grants are available for qualified students.
