insects

If you are unable to sit on the porch at night or step into the vard without being driven frantic by mosquitoes, you will find the Electracide a hoon. Electracide is a light trap that attracts and destroys mosquitoes, moths, gnats, beetles, fish flies and other insect pests. You simply plug it into any convenience outlet, like a portable lamp. It costs only 1/4c an hour for electricity. Electracide also destroys many insects which are damaging to shrubs, flowers and fruit trees . . . the codling moth bud moth and fruit tree leaf roller. Experiments in apple orchards have shown that, with this protection, trees produce greater yields of clean fruit each year. See the Electracide on display at department stores, hardware stores and electrical dealers.
