Tremendous Trifles By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

A SHOT SPOILS A PLOT

IT WAS only a little "four-pound-er" and the small cannon balls which it fired at the British stoop, "Vulture," as she lay at anchor be-low West Point couldn't, possibly have injured her even if they had hit her. But those same cannon insect pests to destruction

... the Electracide kills moths, mosquitoes, and other insect pests

This "light trap" lures winged insects to destruction. It greatly reduces the annoyance of mosquitoes and bugs outof-doors on summer evenings. It also destroys many insects which are damaging to shrubs, flowers and fruit trees . . . the codling moth, bud moth and fruit tree leaf roller. Experiments in apple orchards have shown that, with this protection, trees produce greater yields of clean fruit each year. Operating at a cost of only 1/4c an hour for electricity, the Electracide plugs into any convenience outlet, like a portable lamp. See it on display at department stores, hardware stores and electrical dealers.

The "Valture" had come up the Husson, bringing Maj. John Andre to establish contact with Arnold. Andre was put ashore to meet Arnold and the "Vulture" dropped anchor to wall.

A certain Colonel Livitiston regarded the presence of the endiny ship as something of an insult. He saked Col. John Lamb to lend him a guu and some powder. Lamb refused at first.

Freed at first.

But Livingston persisted until he got the gun. Then he opened fire on the "Veiture" and his bombardment was so annoying that the sloop moved down the river.

When Andre was ready to return, the oarsmen hired to row him out to the British ship were too laxy to go the extra distance. So the only thing to do was to send him south by land. But Andre got lost, blundered into the hands of three American inilliamen who turned him over to a Continental officer. The result is History—the betrayal of Araold's treason plot and the saving of West Point.
