College Appoints Director

Schoolcraft College has appointed a new director of community services, completing a search which began early last winter.

Ronald L. Griffith, 32, has been named to the post which became vacant last November when Frederick Stefanski was promoted to academic dean.

Griffith comes to Schoolcraft from Florida Junior College at Jacksonville, Fla., where he was an associate dean for career and adult education. His appointment is effective Aug. 1.

Schoolcraft President C. Nelson Grote said Griffith "brings considerable educational and work experience to the job, and he shares our enthusiasm for its importance and potential."

ALTHOUGH THE school has been without a full-time director over the past nine months, Dean Stefanski has continued to direct a number of its on-going programs during the interim period.

RONALD L. GRIFFITH Joins Schoolcraft

Even when he had it as his primary assignment though, the dean had additional responsibility for evening college and negotiations. Griffith thus becomes the school's first full-time community services director.

Community services at Schoolcraft conducts a variety of programs and activities designed to meet the special needs of people aside from regularly established programs. They take the form of clinics, workshops, lectures, consultations, seminars and classes.

According to Griffith, the college might arrange for a series of specialized knitting classes, poodle grooming, clothing construction, speedwriting or personal typing. It might help instruct people on how to file their income tax or provide a general auto maintenance course for women drivers.

GRIFFITH SAID these are just some examples of what might be offered. They would be non-credit and would meet at times and places most convenient to the persons participating. An evening, off-campus class would be more the rule than the exception.

In order to serve the community effectively, the new director will need to assess its needs. These are best known by the residents themselves, and Griffith invites anyone who has an idea for a community service program to call him at the college.

Griffith has earned bachelor and master degrees from Morehead State University and has taken advanced work at Mississippi State University, the University of Tennessee, and Auburn University.

He has been a community college instructor and has administered community college programs in occupational education and special vocational programs.

On Dean's List

Two Observerland residents are among 600 who made the dean's list at Bob Jones University, Greenville, S.C. by earning at least a B average during the second semester.

Receiving this honor were: Audrey Louise Gray, 209 Henry Ruff, Garden City; and David Otis McGuire, 1481 Palmer Ave., Plymouth.

Miss Gray, a senior in the School of Education, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dixon O. Berry.

McGuire, a senior in the College of Arts and Science, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Otis F. McGuire.
