Bow church or St. Mary-le-Bow in Chespsido, London, derives its name from the stone arches,
"bywe," of its Norman crypt, built about 1000, The church was rebuilt by Sir Christopher Wren about 1860. The crypt probably is a about 1000. The church was rebuilt by Sir Christopher Wren about 1680. The crypt probably is a relie of the church built in Norman times and is given in Baedeker as the oldest surviving ecclesiastical structure in the city of London. The church has long had one of the most celebrated bell-peals. John Dun, mercer, in 1472, gave two tenements to maintain the ringing of Bow bell every night at nine o'clock, to direct travelers on the road to town; and in 1820 William Copland gave a bigger bell for the purpose dissounding a criteral from work."

The Eowy bells are twelve in muse, states a writer in the Detroit Neys, eight of which were recast in Whitechappel in 1762. According to legend, it was the sound of Bow bells which inspired the poor boy, Richard Whittington, in the Foundand become its fampus lord mayor. In the Middle ages the term was "the city," by 1600 the term cockney had become applicable solely to Londoners, and particularly those born within the sound of Bow bells, in the heart of London.

Telephone service between the United States and Mexico was opened ten years ago, on September 30, 1927.

The Ohio Bell Telephono Com-pany had 626,316 telephones in ser-vice at the beginning of 1937, com-pared with 675,616 at the beginning of 1936, a gain of 50,500 telephones or 8.3 per cent.

In her syndicated newspaper col-umn, "Listen, World," Elsie Robin-son wrote recently that at least 75 per cent of our social and business transactions are accomplished over the telephone.

At the beginning of this year there were 165,850 telephones in the system of the Brazilian Telephone Company, an increase of 16,800 over the previous year, In Rio de Janeiro, all but two of the exchanges have been converted to dial operation.

A Buying Guide

Before you order a dinner in a restaurant, you consult the bill-of-fare. Before you take a long trip by motor-car, you pour over road maps. Before you start out on a shopping trip, you should consult the advertisements in The Enterprise. For the same reasons!

The advertising columns are a buying guide to you in the purchase of everything you need-Including amusements! A guide that saves your time and conserves your energy; that saves useless steps and guards against false ones that put S-T-R-E-T-C-H in family budgets.

The advertisements in this paper are so interesting, it is difficult to see how anyone could overlook them . . fail to profit by them. Just check with yourself and be sure that you are reading the advertisements regularly--the big ones and the little ones. It is time well spent . . . always
