Epworth League Notes (Dob Snyder, Editor)

Ray Oldham had charge of last Sunday evening's meeting. Ray gave us an interesting talk on Palm Sunday.

Norm Barrows sang a beautiful solo, accompanied by Lois Baker on the piano. Other leaguers who took part in the meeting are Betty Jane Worfolk, Arnold Miller and Jim Barrows.

Attention All Leaguers! Next Sunday morning we will hold our sunrise breakfast at the church. We are to assemble at the church at 6:30. A small charge of 15 cents will be asked of each person attending. A tempting breakfast is on the menu, I hear.

Mrs. Edward Alexander is reported as much improved, following an operation for appendicitis, at Pontiac General Hospital, where she was taken Monday evening. Dr. Z. R. Aschebrenner is in attendance.

Speech Students Win In Sub-District Meet

Dorothy Johnson and Roger Walker won the sub-district contest in oratory, respectively, in the Clawson High School auditorium Wednesday night.

Dorothy's victory marks the second consecutive year that Farmington has won the sub-district contest in oratory, Roger having won the event at Howell in 1937. Dorothy's oration, entitled "Wool-Pulling Corporation," dealt with the relationship to American life. Her pleasing voice, coupled with a flawless delivery, were the chief factors contributing to her victory.

Journalism Students To Attend Press Meeting

The annual Michigan conference of the Inter-School Press Association will be held at Ann Arbor May 5, 6 and 7. Mr. McKay announced to the Journalism class, Mr. McKay will select members of the Journalism class to represent Farmington at the conference. They will be chosen on the basis of merit. It will be a highly interesting and educational trip for those who attend. The days will be filled with a choice of lectures on different subjects concerning journalism with dancing in the evenings. The students who attend will have to pay $3 to cover their room and board while at the conference.

Rarely does such an opportunity present itself so the students will be working twice as hard this month to be sure of a chance to go.

SPEECH CLASS STUDIES PARLIAMENTARY PROCEDURE

The public speaking class has temporarily departed from the study of stage make-up and is studying the technicalities of parliamentary procedure. The class is studying on the following basis:

In our democratic country a person must be prepared to serve as a leader of his community when called upon. He cannot serve his community either in public office or a social organization without knowing something of parliamentary procedure. Parliamentary procedure not only is a necessity for leaders, but it is necessary that every citizen know these rules because he cannot participate intelligently in any business meeting with a superficial knowledge of business meeting procedure.

A person's education both in experience and academics and how he uses it is the root of citizenship. How he uses citizenship is the root of democracy.

CIVICS CLUB FORGETS THE CONSTITUTION

Twenty members of the Civics Club reported an enjoyable time at their party in the school.

The party started with all persons playing a stimulating and exciting game called "coodle." Mac McKelvey walked off with the first prize of two candy bars as a result of having assembled on paper the most complete anomalies of that interesting specimen, the cootie. Irene Schweiger won the somewhat dubious honor of having the least number of cooties, which she received the booby prize.

The next game to claim the attention of those present was numbers. When the results were announced it was found that Mac had once more taken top honors by the first place with Thad Drykalski.

A lively ping pong contest was in progress for those not interested in the other games. The high spot of the evening came with refreshments. Punch was served with sandwiches and cake until everyone present was filled. The next hour was spent in dancing to radio music with the party breaking up shortly after midnight.

NEW DRAMATICS CLUB ELECTS ITS OFFICERS

Officers of the new dramatic club elected at a recent meeting are: Sharlie Bellmyer, president; Bill Davidson, vice-president; Belle Edson, Secretary-Treasurer.

A constitution committee also was chosen and the members are drafting a constitution. They are: Beulah Sherman, Bill Davidson and James Gibbs.

The objective of the club is to teach the members as much as possible about the finer art of drama. Members will study the history of drama so they will have a good foundation on which to build their study of acting. Several short plays will be presented to the public in the very near future.

Mr. McKay is the club sponsor.

THE RED SIGNAL (Book Review)

The story takes place during the World War. It is a story of a family of German spies who have hired a girl to do the housework. The girl, Hilda, is an American.

One night Hilda heard voices outside her window and she saw a man take up some cabbage plants and open an iron lid buried in the ground under the plants, and behold a great store of guns and ammunition before her eyes. Hilda made up her mind to break away the next afternoon and go to Washington to tell the President of the happenings.

The next afternoon she stole away and got on a train for Washington. She got there about 10 p. m. and had to wait to see him.

As soon as the President learned of this, he put a special detective force around the farm. If the spies were nowhere to be found, the spies decided finally to go after the girl and get even with her, but she outwitted them and they were put in jail for life.

History of Archery

Shortly after the Civil War the United States was awakened to the sport of archery by Maurice Thompson and his brother, who spent some time in the Everglades of Florida hunting with the long bow. Later Maurice published his book "The Witchery of Archery," which created tremendous interest in archery and helped to revive it as a sport in this country.

One of the most popular archers of the present time is Howard Hill who recently was obtained by Warner Brothers, movie company, as archery instructor and doubled for the stars in the technicolor production, "The Adventures of Robin Hood." Errol Flynn and Alan Hale, members of the cast, have become so interested in archery through their contact with Mr. Hill, that they have taken up the sport for their own recreation. Mr. Hill is confident that the picture will do much to increase the interest in archery.

Many organizations and associations have been formed, together with community club, to promote interest in archery. Among them are United Bowmen of Philadelphia and National Archery Association of the United States.

Revolution

on our Main Street

GIVE a thought to Main Street as you scan today's headlines!
All the world's excitement isn't in Europe.

For, in our own town . . . and towns like it clear across the country . . . there's a daily revolution going on. Changes in dress styles and food prices . . . the rise of a hat crown . . . new kinds of furniture . . . bargains in cars, hardware, furniture . . . these matters vitally affect our daily living . . . And the news is ably and fully covered in advertisements. Here, in concise, meaty form home town dealers in world's goods tell you what's new, what's good . . . and how to make your dollars S-T-R-E-T-C-H.

Smart people who like to be up-to-the-minute in living and local news, follow the advertisements as closely as headlines. They know what's doing in Europe and America and right at home . . . but they also know where money buys most!
