

The FASTER You Go The SOONER You May Be GONE

Don't Race Every Motorist Who Wants To Pass You!

"Hey, you, pull over to the curb!" ... that's the signal for you to go into your under-the-breath swearing act. You explain to the officer. You remember that once you talked yourself out of a ticket ... and so you talk some more. And the officer listens politely ... but at the proper lull in your monologue ... he moves toward the front of the car, puts his foot on your bumper. He then deliberately takes his book of tickets from his inside coat pocket and begins to write.

Of course, you've shown him your driver's license and you feel THAT should get you out of any difficulty. You're a law abiding citizen, you feel. Here you are going along peacefully ... minding your own business ... at 60 miles an hour ... carrying a driver's license ... carrying the Certificate of Title to your car at peace with the world when this traffic officer suddenly interrupts your mad dash to somewhere or other.

All we can say to you is this: when you speed, you endanger your own life ... you endanger the lives of others ... and you deserve any penalty the law can possibly impose. If you don't want trouble ... don't race every motorist who wants to pass you and DRIVE CAREFULLY!

FAIR GLAMOUR

We certainly do hear a lot these days about the New York World's Fair 1939. We keep right on hearing it, too, day after day. It seems you can pick up a newspaper anywhere, or a magazine, either, that you don't run across something about the tremendous, stupendous, glamorous gorgeousness of the Fair, or words to that effect.

Sometimes we lean back in our worn editorial chair and wonder whether the fellow who's sending out all this press literature about the exposition isn't kidding us just a little. New York, you know, likes to kid the country-folk now and then. However, it doesn't seem there are any grains of salt with the press news of the Fair, so perhaps we're supposed to take it as is and believe it.

Let's see, now, what some of the wonders are going to be, as they are told to us in all sorts of flowery language. If you want to stick your tongue in your cheek afterward, that's up to you. We're just sitting still till it's time to journey to the Fair and see for ourselves.

To begin with, we're told that the Fair has built a steel globe 200 feet high, the biggest thing of its kind ever put up, and that there's a steel spire 700 feet tall right next to it, and that you are going to travel from the spire into the inside of the globe on the biggest escalator in the world, and that it took a camera man more than half an hour to climb up into the spire to take some pictures of the scenery thereabouts. Well, mebbe, mebbe.

And now try some of these on your imagination:

A statue of George Washington 65 feet tall, the largest portrait in sculpture in the world; a sun dial 50 feet high, that's really going to tell time whenever the sun shines; the process, which all visitors will be able to witness, of milking 200 contented cows on a revolving platform so that they'll give 4,000 quarts of milk every 24 hours; the opportunity to make a parachute drop of 250 feet and live to tell the folks back home about it; the presentation of the entire history of railroading in this country, with all the dramatics of hold-ups with big six-shooters, and the like, on real tracks with real trains and masked bandits; a gigantic fountain display at night combining fire, water, sound and color as never before in what has been called "the nearest approach to chaos that man can contrive for purposes of entertainment"; the sight of a great airplane apparently in flight, so that you'll feel like ducking when you see it as if it were coming toward you; the changing of the leaves of a thousand trees to fairy-like fluorescence by the light of hidden mercury vapor lamps; the display of a "rocket ship" of the future in which those who want to "get away from it all" may be shot through the stratosphere to Mars, or to wherever else in the distant universe they have been foolish enough to buy tickets; a wide amphitheatre, as large as those of ancient Rome, where thousands will gather to witness thrilling pageant and spectacular productions of rainbow hues on a huge island stage; an enormous model of the City of New York, with some of its skyscrapers shown twenty-five feet tall, to display the intricate lighting system of the metropolis.

These are only a few of the promised wonders. Is the Fair trying to kid us? What do you think?

The name Detroit is a French word meaning a "narrow place" or "strait." When Cadillac in July, 1701, sailed down from Lake St. Clair and passed Belle Isle, he began to study the shores of the river looking for a site for his fort. His expedition went down to Grosse Ile and spent the night there. They agreed that the narrowest part of the river was the place for the fort, and on the highest ground that afforded a strongly defensible location. Back they came up the river and Cadillac selected his site. As quoted in Catlin's "Story of Detroit": "It was chosen because it is defended on three sides by a water front (formed by the former Savor river). It commands a fine view up and down the river. Our little brass cannon can send a shot clear across the big river and we can hold the fort against either English invaders or hostile Indians."
