FIRES ENDANGER WOODLOTS

Lack of heavy rainfall has led A. B. Bowman, forestry instructor at Michigan State College, to warn of the danger to farm woodlots and forests from the fires set to burn brush and from campfires and smokes of hunters this fall. The heavier forest fuels like logging slash and down trees have become tinder dry, ready to roar if fires start in the crisp, freshly fallen leaves and withered vegetation.

Suburban homes are menaced each fall by persons burning leaves and rubbish or by hunters as they cast away burning matches or tobacco. Landowners are encouraged to prepare fire lines around any small areas in which they intend to burn brush.

A lot of charity that begins at home is too weak to venture any farther.

Lilian T. Mowrer Speaks Wednesday in Detroit

Lilian T. Mowrer, author of the recent best-seller "Journalist's Wife," now in its eighth printing, will be the Detroit Town Hall speaker at 11 a. m. next Wednesday in the Fisher Theatre. With 20 years experience in the political arenas of Europe — years packed with danger, excitement and drama — Mrs. Mowrer came to this country just from the scene of the recent European crisis for a month's lecture tour which opened brilliantly Oct. 21 in Chicago, before the Council of Foreign Relations.

In her talk, "Where Is Europe Going?" Mrs. Mowrer brings the keen political insight and experience gained in 20 years at the fronts of Italy, Germany and France with her famous husband, Edgar Ansel Mowrer, American foreign correspondent and Pulitzer Prize winner.

An English girl with a background of stage experience, a brilliant and witty mind and a keen interest in and knowledge of politics, Mrs. Mowrer has achieved tremendous popularity in America through her book, "Journalist's Wife," which has established her as a foremost commentator on world affairs. Tickets for her lecture are on sale now at Grinnell's Box Office.

Hair of the modern girl looks like a mop, mimes a bishop. We wonder if the modern girl knows that a mop looks like.

Wheat Crop Premiums Must Be Paid by Nov. 19

Farmers who have applied for insurance on their wheat crops have until Nov. 19 to pay for their premiums, Howard L. Musolf, Oakland County Crop Insurance Supervisor, announced this week. "This is the final extension of time for payment of 1939 wheat insurance policies," Mr. Musolf said.

In making the announcement, Mr. Musolf added that according to the terms of the policy a farmer has no protection against early crop losses from dry weather, wire worms, fall winds or early frost until his premiums are paid.

The log of Howard Hughes' recent round-the-world trip shows that among the foreign countries he passed over were England, Iceland, Siberia, Canada, Mathe and Vermont.

LOSEY CORNERS

The work of moving into the new school building was completed Sunday. It will open for lessons Monday. This is a fine, modern four-room building. Special attention has been given the lighting and heating conditions and there are facilities for serving hot lunches. The community is grateful to the school board for the work they have done in the past few months, working at the heads of the different Detroit departments to hasten the completion of this much-needed building. The building is modernistic in design and built of brick and will be an addition to the community. The old school buildings, of which there are three — the main building over 115 years old and two units built in the past eight years — will be used this winter by Hope Chapel.

The Womens Aid and the Brotherhood presented the chapel with 14 and 100 chairs.

PHONE BOOK IS NO PLACE FOR THE RENT MONEY

Because a Chicago resident placed her rent money in a telephone directory, she and her sister spent a day and a half searching for it among all the old directories which were to be sent to the mill. A new directory was left at the home, and a sister gave the old one to the collector, not knowing that it was being used as a bank.

UPSTAIRS TELEPHONE SAVES WOMAN, BABE, IN FIRE

A woman in Warren, Pa., who had a telephone on the first floor of her home, and an extension telephone on the second floor, moved to a new address not long ago. She had decided to give up the extension telephone at the new address, but finally was convinced that she should have the extension because of its value in case of an emergency.

Not long after that, a fire broke out in the cellar of her new home. She was on the second floor with her baby at the time, and, finding escape blocked by dense clouds of smoke, she ran to the extension telephone and called the fire department and her husband. She then prepared the baby and herself for flight. A few minutes later, firemen arrived and carried them both to safety.
