

Torahs Move By Motorcade

The Torahs of Congregation Beth Abraham will be moved by motorcade Sunday, Aug. 29, from their present home on W. Seven Mile to Detroit to the new synagogue and school on West Maple in West Bloomfield.

Ceremonies to mark the transfer of the Torahs will begin with a brief service in the Detroit sanctuary at 9:45 a.m.

At that time the Torah scrolls will be formally removed from the Aron Hakodish and transported in a police-escorted motorcade of open convertible cars to the new quarters.

Benefit Lunch Is Scheduled

The Women's Fellowship of Mt. Hope Congregational Church, 30330 Schoolcraft, Livonia, will sponsor a benefit lunch for Mother Waddles on Thursday, Sept. 9.

Mother Waddles will speak at 11:30 a.m., and lunch will follow. Donations are $2 and babysitting will be provided. For reservations, call Mrs. Kathy Mann, 24320 Edgemont, Southfield.

CHURCH

THE MUSICAL VANNS — more formally the Rev. and Mrs. A. R. Vanderploeg of Toledo, will lead worship services in the Parkdale Assembly of God, Livonia, at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 29. The couple has conducted crusades and evangelistic meetings throughout the country. The clergyman plays 20 different musical instruments, sometimes as many as four at once, and his wife is an expert on the multi-kord, a miniature harp played like a steel guitar. The church is located at 36516 Parkdale, a block south of Plymouth Road west of Levan.

Religion Update

Rev. Lester Kinsolving's

"If there is no reasonable expectation of my recovery from physical or mental disability, I request that I be allowed to die and not be kept alive by artificial means or heroic measures."

This sample, directive addressed: "TO MY FAMILY, MY PHYSICIAN, MY CLERGYMAN AND MY LAWYER," is a form suggested by the Euthanasia Society Educational Fund at 260 W. 57th Street in New York City.

AND WHILE the word euthanasia (mercy killing) is still anathema to most civil and ecclesiastical legislatures, a growing segment of the populace appears to be in agreement with the rest of this proposed directive:

"Death is as much a reality as birth, growth, maturity and old age — it is the one certainty. I do not fear death as much as I fear the indignity of deterioration, dependence and helplessness. I ask that drugs be mercifully administered to me for terminal suffering even if they hasten the moment of death."

"This request is made while I am in good health and spirits. Although this document is not legally binding, I hope, feel morally bound to follow its mandates. I recognize that it places a heavy burden of responsibility upon you, and it is with the intention of sharing that responsibility and of mitigating any feelings of guilt that this statement is made."

The widespread adoption of this carefully worded statement might well cause more than one clergy leader or legislator to re-think the present status quo — where a suffering animal is without hesitation given the same merciful release which human beings are denied.

SOME CLERGY cite the commandment "Thou shalt not murder" in opposing euthanasia. But euthanasia (from the Greek, meaning "good death") is not killing with malice, but with mercy and compassion. Moreover, it is not a choice between life and death — but rather between two forms of death: one that is swift and merciful, the other which is long and agonizing, with progressive and often horrible deterioration.

More than one clergyman, including Henry P. Van Dusen and Henry Sloan Coffin, has challenged the idea that God's will cannot operate through the hypodermic of a merciful physician — but must wait upon the hideous proclivities of a creeping carcinoma.

A case in point was the case of a convicted murderer, a pontiff as Pope Pius XII held it morally permissible, if life is ebbing perilously, "to permit the patient, already virtually dead, to pass on in peace."

His fellow Catholics of an earlier era were even more tolerant. There was Saint Thomas Moore, whose classic book "Utopia," justified euthanasia. St. Jerome justified self destruction if a virgin found her chastity threatened by rape. And Lactantius, one of the early church fathers who was tutor to the Emperor Constantine, justified suicide in cases of torture.

THE BIBLE FINDS no more condemnation in the suicides of Saul and Samson (under extreme circumstances) than does history condemn such suicides as Hannibal, Cleopatra, Seneca and Aristotle, all of whom were faced with torture.

Film Series Is Planned

Lord Kenneth Clark's "Civilisation," the famous color film series on the cultural life of Western man, will be shown at Saint Mary's College, Orchard Lake, beginning Sept. 14.

The films will be shown to the public in the College Class Building, Room 105, at 7 p.m.

The first of the series is entitled "Frozen World," and deals with the Vikings, the Dark Ages and Charlemagne. There are 13 films in all, designed to bring the varied elements of art, music, literature and political history into a concrete and enjoyable presentation. They span the ages from the fall of the Roman Empire up to, and including, the 20th century.

Join Staff

Leslie Raymer and Joyce Fields have been appointed to the staff of the Jewish Community Center as preschool teachers.

Both will begin work at the center, 18100 Meyers Rd., Detroit, in the preschool program in September.
