TRUCKS CHANGE MARKETING OF PRODUCE

Very interesting changes have been brought about in the marketing of perishable truck and fruit crops by means of motor trucks. As soon as growers of these perishable crops get their produce picked and crated, their one big thought is to ship these crops to the best paying markets in the shortest possible time. To speed the movement of these motor trucks are quite generally being used by commercial growers and frequently trips of hundreds of miles are being made to reach profitable markets. In a book entitled "Use of Motor Trucks in Marketing Fruits and Vegetables," prepared by the Cooperative Division of the Farm Credit Administration and based on an investigation conducted in nine states, is the following:

"The question why growers have steadily made greater use of the motor truck in the marketing of fruits and vegetables is perhaps best answered by the growers themselves. Of 3,681 growers in the nine states, 43 per cent stated that they used the motor truck because of "more prompt delivery," 31 per cent because the motor truck was more "convenient," 21 per cent because marketing by truck was "cheaper," 20 per cent because "less handling" was involved in shipping by truck, and 10 per cent because "produce reaches market in better condition." Promptness in delivery and convenience were considered relatively more important by these growers than the cost of the service itself."

BANANA NUT ICE CREAM

4 eggs
1 cup whipping cream
1/2 cup nut meats (cut fine)
2 bananas (mashed)
1 tablespoon vanilla

Separate the yolks and whites of the eggs. Beat yolks until light, and combine with the sugar. Add the sealed milk and cook over hot water, stirring continuously, until the mixture coats the spoon. Remove from the heat and stir 5 minutes. Cool; then fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Add the cream, the nut meats, the bananas, well mashed, and the vanilla. Pour the mixture into the freezing container of a modern ice cream freezer. As possible, use the freezer and crank with a mixture of 3 parts covered. Pack to 1 part rock salt. Turn the crank slowly and steadily for about 5 minutes, or until turning becomes difficult. Then carefully remove the cover, lift out the dasher, and pack with a spoon. Draw off the water, and replenish the ice and salt. Cover and allow to harden for about an hour before serving.
