AT THE REDFORD THEATER

The romantic stars of "Alexander's Rattine Band"—Tyronne Power and Alice Faye—are joined by Al Johnson, the star who sings back the past everyone wants to remember, in "Rose of Washington Square," hailed by critics as the entertainment highlight of 1939.

Featuring an old fashioned Baseline Band, the heart songs of today and yesterday, the 20th Century-Fox film opens the gates of memory rich with the emotion of years of beloved melody, and tells the stirring dramatic romance of Rose, a girl on the level about love, no matter how it tricked her.

These milestones of melody fill the film: "My Man," "Too Toot Tootsie, Goodbye," "I'm Sorry I Made You Cry," "Jail-Bait," "The Vamp," "The Curse of an Achting Heart," "April Showers," "Mammy," "Rose of Washington Square," by James Hanley and Ballard MacDonald, "I'm Always Chasing Rainbows," "I'm Wild About Harry," "California Here I Come" and "Avalon."

In addition there is Gordon and Revel's latest hit, "I Never Knew Heaven Could Speak."

The screen play by Nunnally Johnson, who also served as associate producer, opens in a popular Stuyvesant house on Fourteenth Street in New York, just after the War. Al Johnson is a candy-butcher in the theater, but he has great ambitions for the stage. The film traces his ascent, as well as the climb to fame of Alice Faye, a singer who wins an Amateur Night performance at the start of the story. It tells, also, the tender, heart-breaking romance between

MICHIGAN'S EGG COOKERS TO VIE FOR TITLE

Five of Michigan's best cooks were selected recently at Michigan State College to represent the state's outstanding eligibles for a national title to be conferred during the World's Poultry Congress to be staged in Cleveland July 25 to August 7.

Menus which entrants submitted had various origins. One woman said her chief recipe in the egg meal menu was obtained from the wrapper of a package of dried beef. Another said she found out how to serve a poached egg in served the soup while she was a missionary in Korea.

Five cooks from each of 24 other states also are now under consideration. Twenty of the 125 are in attendance. Twenty of the 125 are in attendance.

Michigan's eligibles include Mrs. W. E. Otis, Mason farm housewife; Mrs. Walter Mulvaney, Detroit Creek farmer's wife; Lois Bristol, Lansing house economy instructor; Mrs. Carl W. Nabekun, Ann Arbor farm housewife; and Mrs. Elizabeth Hurst, Litchfield teacher and librarian.

These others invited to appear and prepare a complete meal from the menus and recipes they submitted were given honorable mention in the state finals. They are Florence Macdonald, Cass county Gardens restaurant and school cook; Mrs. N. D. Chew, St. John's minister's wife; and Mrs. Nelson O'Heirne, Clarksville farm housewife.

AUTO LICENSES FOR 1940 TO BE OF UNIFORM STYLE

Trick license plates with designations such as BOO, GOO, FAR 4, and COO 1 will be taboo in Michigan beginning March 1, next year, Harry F. Kelly, Secretary of State, has decreed. Instead 1940 auto plates will be uniform for every car whether owned by state officials or persons with great influence.

The 1940 plates will have two letters and four numbers, with the letters designating the locality in which the plate is issued so have enforcement officers can tell at a glance where a car is from.

When Secretary Kelly took office he found in existence an astonishing variety of poorly confusing license plate numbers. Hundreds of requests for similar silly numbers were on file and these were promptly denied. It was of course impossible for Secretary Kelly to recall the hundreds of variety of license plates which has placed an almost unsupportable impediment in the effort to enforce the law and track down criminals.

Uniformity of 1940 license plates will make possible a key filing system from which information can be given speedily to law officers concerning any car that is sought, a very important matter in police work.
