"SWING MIKADO" TO OPEN SOON AT CASS THEATER

Tradition will be kicked squarely in the trousers when "The Mikado in Swing," the first attraction of the season opens at the Cass Theatre, Detroit, Sunday night, July 23. In this operatic jam session the Mikado trucks on down, Nanki-Poo and Yum Yum give out with a dash of flo-flo and even the Three Little Maids from School slip in a bump or two.

In setting "The Mikado in Swing" to the tempo and tenor of the Twentieth Century, the character and tunes remain the same, and of necessity some of the plot and lines have been modernized. However, you will hear the famous and familiar "A Wanderer in Swing," "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring" and "Till Willow," first as Gilbert and Sullivan wrote them and then in dancing to the accompaniment of tap dancing, trucking and most everything else.

The all-provo company of 75 enters into the spirit of things with all the characteristic zest of their race. Lonnie Jackson reveals a good voice as Nanki-Poo and Gertrude Overstreet sings sweetly as Yum Yum, Billy Mitchell invests the role of Ko-Ko with plenty of dark-toned humor as does the brightly hatched Leroy George as the Mikado.

The large chorus of boys and girls, the Joseph Sherman Singers and the Swing Band all go to make up a very unusual entertainment.

Chrysler employees of this vicinity spent a most enjoyable day Saturday at the annual picnic of the Highland Park plant held at Edgewater Park.

Hidden Buds and Leaves

Eyes on shrubs are simply Mrs. John Morris is at her home on Drake Road after being away for some time because of an injury.

Jacob Essig passed away at his home, 3786 Thirteen Mile Road, Sunday afternoon after a long illness. He was 78 years old. He was born in Germany and came to this country at 10 years of age. He has lived near and in Farmington Township for the past 68 years. He leaves two sisters, Fredericka and Anna. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the house with Rev. Carl Schull officiating. Burial was at Clarenceville cemetery.

A cutting taken with a heel means that a small bit of wood from an arbor branch is left attached to the cutting. This "heel" may be only a thin slice of such wood (when the young stem grows out at an angle, then it is often called a "mallet" - even a small cutting with a heel looks like a little leaf-handled tool with its head more or less askew.

To "heel in" a plant simply means that it is laid down, more or less flat, or slanted, with its roots covered with soil. This is only a temporary planting to keep growth unchecked until the plant can go into its permanent position.

The expression "heel in" is commonly used when bulb plants (narcissus, tulips, etc.) are removed from beds where they flowered to some out-of-the-way spot where they are allowed to remain until foliage has died down. This is necessary to mature the bulbs. If taken up too plently early so growth is not retarded it's a convenient and safe way to make room for other flowers.

One Race of Cicada Is Around Every 13 Years

There are two races of the periodical cicada - the 17 year race and another that appears every 13 years. Scientists have found no differences in the two except that one remains underground in the larva and pupa stages four years longer than the other, states a writer in the Chicago Tribune.

Every year is locust year in some part of the country. There are 17 different broods of the 17 year race and 13 broods of the 13 year race. The broods have been catalogued by Roman numbers. Broods Nos. 1 to 17 compose the 17 year race. The 17 year race is numbered from 18 to 30.

There is overlapping of the territories occupied by the two races and also by the different broods. In some sections, however, the locusts only appear at 13 or 17 year intervals, indicating the presence of only one brood.

The periodical cicadas are not found in the western part of the United States. They live mainly in the wooded regions from the Atlantic coast westward to central Kansas. Broods of the 17 year race are found chiefly in sections north of the Ohio and Missouri rivers and the 13 year broods south of these rivers.

The first recorded appearance of the 17 year race of the cicada was in 1834 when the colonists at Plymouth noted large swarms of the insects. This has become known as brood 14. This brood extends westward to the Mississippi river, covering all or parts of 18 states.

Mortgage Moratorium Not New

The mortgage moratorium, which is more or less generally regarded as a new device for the relief of the oppressed, is not new at all. The ancients knew about it. It was employed about 4,189 years ago in a brief economic protection to a people who, because of conditions over which they had no control, could not meet their obligations. The mortgage moratorium, which is found in the Code of Hammurabi (Harpur's Second Edition - 1904), is offered as proof the moratorium is not new.

According to one of the great treatise (the storm god) inundates his field and carry away the produce, or, through lack of water, grain have not grown in the field, in that year he shall not make any return to the creditor, he shall alter his contract-tablet and he shall not pay the interest for that year."

Famous Sea Monster

One of the most famous of sea monsters was the serpent sighted by her majesty's ship Daedalus in October, 1838, while cruising from the Cape of Good Hope to St. Helena.

According to one of the great treatise "passed rapidly, but so close under our lee quarters that had it been a man of my acquaintance, I should easily have recognized his features with the naked eye; and it did not, either in approaching the ship or after it had passed our wake, deviate in the slightest degree from its course, which it held on at the pace of from 12 to 15 miles per hour, apparently on some determined purpose. Its color was brown and yellowish-white about the throat. It had no fins, but something like the mane of a horse, or rather a bunch of seaweed, washed about its back."
