Farmington Defeated In Final Round

A tired but scrappy Farmington Merchants baseball team met defeat in the final round of the state Semi-Pro meet in Grand Rapids, Sunday. They were beaten by Mt. Pleasant 11 to 1.

It was Farmington's third game of the day, and their fourth since the previous afternoon. On Saturday they dropped an 8 to 2 game to Mt. Pleasant. Several errors cost the Merchants a valuable ground and a six run spurge in the third inning by Mt. Pleasant, sewed up the game.

The Merchants returned to the field the next morning to face the home-town favorites, Grand Rapids Moose. Things looked dark for the Farmington boys until the ninth inning, at which time they pulled a rabbit out of their hat, and overcame a 4 to 6 deficit to win 9 to 6. It was a dramatic climax. The last inning, two men out and two strikes on the last batter, and then six straight hits, scoring five runs.

"Ace" Elliott, Bill Watling, and Harold Westfall, handled the pitching for Farmington, limiting the Moose to eight hits.

The Farmington boys took time out for lunch and hurried back to the field to keep a 9 to 6 appointment with Jackson Cut-Rats. They continued their winning ways, blasting out eight runs in three innings to beat the high-flying Jackson outfit 9 to 6. "Ace" Elliott limited the Jackson sluggers to six hits and had excellent support from his teammates. Roger Bastian was especially outstanding at shortstop.

This victory qualified Farmington to meet Mt. Pleasant again for the final championship. Manager Hugh P. Brennan expected to play the final game on the next day, but received word from State Commissioner Henry De Haan that his team would be required to play the title game that same afternoon.

Brennan questioned the legality of this ruling, and the game was played under protest from the Farmington team. The Farmington boys, tired from their two previous battles, were no match for Mt. Pleasant. The combined efforts of Wilkinson, Caudell, and Westfall on the mound for Farmington were hit freely.

Brennan Thursday declared that an official protest against the method used by Commissioner De Haan to determine the winner has been lodged in the national office in Wichita, Kansas, and that he is anxiously awaiting word as to whether the game will be replayed.

Huge Fish Trap Draws Interest of Residents

In the same way that people are attracted to police exhibits of weapons taken from notorious criminals, residents of this area are viewing with interest a huge fish trap, net taken from alleged law violators in Lake Superior.

The net, one of two recently confiscated for alleged illegal setting in Silver Bay, was put on display at the district headquarters of the state department of conservation.

"The public is amazed at this enormous size," reports Joseph Elmblad, district supervisor. "In fact, some have asked us if the net is set up for trapping birds—it's that high."

Rabies Control Possible Through Dog Restriction

(The fourth of a series of articles prepared by the Outdoor Sportsman's Association of Oakland County, dealing with the dog situation of Oakland County, with particular reference to rabies, its spread, control and prevention.)

Control of rabies depends upon reasonable restriction and control of dogs in all communities. While the disease occurs in wild animals such as foxes, coyotes on the west end plains, skunks, etc., the real epidemic reservoir is the domestic dog.

The first step in the control of rabies is the annual restriction and control of dogs. This procedure is simple in municipalities but somewhat difficult to enforce in the more rural areas.

Enforcement of the State Law that dogs must be tied at night may also be helpful. Such control measures as licensing of all dogs and high license fees for female dogs have been tried in some communities with doubtful success.

A recent State Law requires that all dog bites be reported to responsible health authorities. This report should be thoroughly investigated. The dog involved in the bite should be quarantined and kept under observation. If the dog shows any symptoms suggestive of rabies, he should not be killed but should be kept under further observation and restraint until a diagnostic symptoms inevitably develop if rabies is present.

The dog should then be killed and the head removed and shipped intact to the Pasteur Institute in Ann Arbor. Do not shoot the dog in the head.

Whenever a dog develops rabies, intensive efforts should be made to trace the movements of the dog to learn if possible if any person or dog has been bitten. All dogs known to have been bitten by the rabid dog should either be destroyed or kept under rigorous quarantine for at least 90 days. It is logical that all dogs should be quarantined for a period of three months in any community that has been visited by a rabid dog, as no one can be certain as to what dogs have been bitten.

Humans. If bitten, should, of course, receive the Pasteur treatment immediately. Great discretion must be used in treating persons who have been bitten by dogs. The wound should be cauterized immediately if there is any reason to suspect that the dog may have been rabid. Ordinary antiseptics are of no value. Biting and scratching should be cauterized in this manner as seldom followed by rabies, though even these measures are of little value if applied after the six hours after the bite. This treatment is particularly important in wounds of the face and neck, where the Pasteur treatment may fail.

An enlightened and cooperative citizen can soon obviate the necessity of quarantine and the danger of rabies. The public is strongly urged to report all unlicensed and stray dogs to the local dog warden and insist that action be taken.

You are entitled to this protection for your children and pets. The vaccination of dogs as a means of control will be dealt with in a subsequent article.

In June Michigan experienced 78 fatal, 1650 personal injury and $275 property damage accidents. These have resulted in 80 deaths and 2,211 injuries. This is a decrease from May's 105 deaths and 2,351 injuries. This drop is particularly significant because June is the first month of the vacation season with its heavy travel.

June's fatal accident decrease was caused mainly by the improvement of the accident experience on state trunk lines and good roads during the month. On these highways there were 43 fatal accidents in June as compared to 55 in May.

Analysis of the types of fatal accidents reveals that collisions between two motor vehicles and between a motor vehicle and a railroad train and a motor vehicle decreased by 50% from May's record. On the other hand, the number of fatal bicycle motor vehicle accidents doubled last month's total.

Brookdale Parkway Planned

A city improvement project, for which provisions were made many years ago, will become a reality with the building of a parkway on Brookdale avenue at the Grand River intersection.

Strips of land, one on each side of Brookdale avenue, measuring 25 feet by 200 feet, were donated to the city by W. G. Malcolmson, prominent Detroit architect, at the time that he owned a large subdivision in that section of the city.

Malcolmson purchased the former Hudson Wilcox farm, subdivided it, put in water and sewer service, and presented the city with the above-mentioned property, along with a similar parcel of land on Lakeway avenue at Grand River.

City workers have begun grading and scraping the area in preparation for seeding and planting. The old sidewalks, which were badly cracked, have been removed, and new ones will be laid. The new sidewalks will run parallel to Brookdale at a distance of about 40 feet from the street.

Grass, shrubs, and trees will be planted, according to Delos Hamlin, head of the committee in charge of constructing the park. The types and varieties of shrubbery to be planted have not yet been chosen but it is expected that the greatest portion of the planting and seeding will be completed by September.

The proposed parkway on Lakeway avenue at Grand River will be built up much in the same way as the one at Brookdale, stated Hamlin, but work on this project will probably not be started until next year.

Golden Wedding Couple Honored With Poem

Following is a poem written in honor of the occasion of the Golden Wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. M. Byron Pierce. It was written by Mrs. S. D. Harger, a close friend of Mr. and Mrs. Pierce.

July 31 in '39
Is just fifty years,
A past the time
The knot was tied
Sincerely true
So that we
Just me and you
Could go upon
This Golden Day
And wish them
Well upon their way.

These two
Who've weathered
Through the years
And found it
Not a single tear
But lived each day
As though 'twere sent
And present
A calm untroubled
Contentment.

So those with whom
They mingle here
Might know
The peace that
They could see
Came from
An inner ecstasy.
