JORGENSEN-COE WEDDING HELD AT BOTSFORD TAVERN

Miss Metha Jorgensen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jorgensen, and Stuart Coe, son of Burt Coe, and the late Mrs. Coe, were united in marriage Saturday evening, at a very pretty ceremony performed at Botsford Tavern, with the Rev. Svend Jorgensen of Detroit officiating.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gown in white satin, trimmed in lace. She wore a veil of finger tip length, and carried a bridal bouquet of Johanna Hill roses, tuber roses and Euphorbia.

Mrs. Agnes Henderson acted as her sister's matron of honor, and was a gown of dusty rose motif with white accessories. She carried a bouquet of Hoover roses and euphorbia.

Russell Coe acted as his brother's best man.

Mrs. Jorgensen chose for her daughter's wedding a dress of black crepe, and wore a corsage of roses and straw flowers. Miss Lucille Jorgensen, sister of the bride, played the wedding march.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Inn, for a large number of friends and relatives.

The tables were covered with white baby chrysanthemums and white daisies.

Mr. and Mrs. Coe will make their home at 20500 Drake Road, Farmington.

SCHOOLS

All children living a mile or more from the school are transported in the 12 buses morning and afternoon. All of the transporting is done within an hour's time for each trip.

The Walled Lake schools are not in a position to accept non-resident children in the grades below the ninth but they do accept non-residents who are able to furnish their own transportation to Walled Lake for grades 9, 10, 11, and 12. There were about 90 non-resident high school pupils during the past year attending and more are expected this year. The state pays the tuition of those children living in districts not maintaining a high school.

Children who are five years of age on September 6, may be entered in the one of the three schools which serves the first six grades of that area.

The new gymnasium-auditorium is one of the best adapted for the schools of the size of Walled Lake in this part of the state.

Four hundred sixty-one permanent stadium chairs have been installed on eleven elevations to the south facing the gym floor and the stage on the north. The stage is 16 feet deep and 51 feet long. This is equipped with a curtain of blue trimmed in gold and has provision for cutting the stage down for a small group by moving side curtains in from either end. Additional chairs placed on the floor of the gym will provide ample space for large gatherings.

Locker Arrangements

Another arrangement for the benefit of the Junior and Senior High School students is the provision this year of a locker for each pupil. Junior and Senior high school students will be asked to make a deposit for the locker along with the payment of their Student Association fee. This locker deposit will be returned at the close of the year when the lock is returned.

With the cafeteria rooms separate from the instructional unit it is possible for the school to greatly enlarge this service to the children and with the increased number there is a demand for more of a variety of foods and this department will function with the other departments of the school on the opening day.

OIL DRUMS USED TO HALT EROSION IN ORCHARD

Two dozen oil drums bolted together to form a water flume are carrying excess rainfall out of a 30-acre orchard in Kent county so successfully that erosion practically has been stopped and spray rigs once again are able to cross what once were deep gullies.

Diversion ditches and the gully control work were planned by technicians of Michigan State College extension service and the soil conservation service of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Work was done by the orchard owner, Russell Braman, whose farm is near Grand Rapids.

Actual cost of the oil drum flume is not known. Some of the drums cost 50 cents each but Mr. Braman already has some on hand.

The flume was constructed between times on the farm as other farm work permitted.

The flume has a concrete entrance from which the line of drums, bolted together in telescopic form, carry the water down a fairly steep slope to where the excess can spread out over lower ground.

Gully banks were sloped, mulched and seeded and some old women were staked down over the mulch to hold it in place until vegetation was established.

NEW TRAFFIC LAW PROHIBITS TURN ON RED LIGHT

The state's new traffic law prohibits right-hand turns on a red light. Red means stop for all traffic—including the driver who herebefore has been twisting to the right around an intersection into the flow of traffic moving on the green. This driver, hereafter, stops on the red, and makes his turn only when he has the green signal.

Flashing red means stop. It is to be interpreted the same as a stop sign.

Flashing yellow or amber means caution.

Green means vehicles may go straight ahead, right or left unless a sign prohibits such turns. Traffic proceeding on the green must, however, yield the right-of-way to other vehicles and pedestrians lawfully within the intersection.

Yellow or amber when shown with green requires that vehicles be brought to a stop before entering the intersection if such stop can be made in safety.

If a green arrow is shown with the red light, vehicles may continue to enter the intersection to make the movement indicated by the arrow, but must yield the right-of-way to other traffic.

Post Offices and Social Security Field Offices can supply Michigan workers with Social Security Account numbers which are used as identification of wage records by the Unemployment Compensation Commission.

DON'T "OVERDRIVE YOUR HEADLIGHTS," SAFETY MEN WARN

The next time you feel inclined to boast about the speed record you set the other night between Homestead and Big City consider these facts released recently by the Tripp Safety Foundation of Chicago.

If your head lamps are in perfect condition, you have safe vision for 235 feet ahead at 45 miles per hour. However, the average lamps provide safe vision for only 150 feet. If you drive at 45 miles per hour, it requires 200 feet to stop with the average brakes. Fifty feet of this distance is "driver's reaction" time.

No Safety Margin

Thus, with average head lamps, average brakes and average driver reaction, you are "overdriving your headlights" eighty-five feet if you drive 45 miles per hour on the highway at night. In other words you have no margin of safety.

Overdriving the headlights is one of the major causes of night accidents, according to R. R. Whipple, chief engineer of the Tripp Safety Foundation, who showed, too, that the hazards of night driving are greatly increased when the air contains rain, snow, dust or fog.

You are overdriving your headlights, according to Whipple, when your braking distance exceeds the distance of your head lamp beam.

HIGHWAY DEPT. PREPARING FOR BUSY WEEK-END

Anticipating record traffic volumes over the Labor Day week-end, state police and state highway officials are planning concerted action to prevent accidents during the holiday period.

Commissioner Oscar G. Olander of the state police canceled leaves for all troopers from September 1 to 4 and ordered officers concentrated in heavy traffic areas and at important intersections. State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner ordered construction halted on all highways where spray solution was continuing to move over roads under repair or replacement. District engineers were directed to inspect all highways for hazards which might be eliminated. All gravel highways will be dust-proofed before the holiday.

Olander asked all motorists to begin observance of regulations which will become effective September 29. This law makes it a misdemeanor to cross the centerline of a four-lane pavement or cross into the center lane of a three-lane highway except when passing.

This joint state police-highway department safety program was put into action over the Fourth of July weekend. Over the four-day holiday period, 12 persons were injured fatally. The toll for the same days of previous year was 31.

SHADE TREES GIVEN NEW LEASE ON LIFE

Nearly a quarter million roadside shade trees had a new lease on life this week as the state highway department completed its 1939 tree-spraying activities.

The attack against leaf-eating insects was launched April 4 with dormant sprays to kill insects before damage had started. In May, spring canker worm and in June the regular summer spray can paign was started. The department uses a solution of arsenate of lead.

The program was carried on by four units with power spraying equipment. Each machine was operated by two crews—one working from daylight until noon and the second crew from noon to dark. Nearly 700,000 gallons of spray solution went through the sprayers. Attention was concentrated on apple, elm, cherry, walnut, ash, and hickory trees.

State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner claimed for the program the saving of thousands of trees along Michigan roadsides. "We have expanded this program from year to year," he said, "with the result that today there are beautiful trees along our roadsides which the insects would otherwise have destroyed. It is impossible to accurately calculate the value of these roadside trees but we know that they are returning thousands of dollars in tourist income and in scenic pleasure for Michigan drivers."
