Stone of Petrified Dew
One of the most valued possessions of the sultan of Perak in Asia is a stone which tradition says, is made, by petrified dew. This talk-man is believed by the Malays to have many mirraculous powers. An important part of the sultan's regalla, the stone has been in possession of the Perak dynasty throughout recorded history, and is said to have been given to the first sultan by To Temong, a girl saint of Perak. The sultan's sword of state is also of great antiquity. It is believed by Malays to have been the sword of Alexandra of Great and to have been used by Mohomet at the great hattle of Badr.

U. S. Inadequately Mapped Despite the fact that people are now more map-conscious than ever before, not more than 47 per cent of the United States has been completely mapped to show elevations and slopes. In this respect, Dr. William Bowle of the coast and geodetic survey says fast the United States is one of the most backward of all the highly organized countries of the world.

Wonder of Hungary's most fascinating phenomena is the "flowering of the Tisza," one of the country's rivers. This strange sight is caused bythe drowning of billions of small insects. Once in three years they hatch, fly over the river and fall in the country of the river and fall in the country of the river and fall the river and fall the country of the river and fall the river and the river and the riverse of the riverse o
